

THE CENTRAL RECORD.

PURE RELIGION, UNARNISHED DEMOCRACY AND GOOD GOVERNMENT.

TWENTY FIFTH YEAR.

LANCASTER, KY., THURSDAY AFTERNOON, NOVEMBER 5, 1914.

NUMBER 31.

See us for your Roofing, Guttering and SHEET METAL WORK.

All kinds of repairing quickly done.

We carry at all times a full line of Farm Machinery and Machine Repairs.

LIVE and LET LIVE FOLKS

CONN BROTHERS.

Lancaster, Ky.

PREACHING AT MT. TABOR.

Rev. W. D. D. Powell, of Louisville, and one of the noted evangelists of the state, will preach at Mt. Tabor next Sunday Morning. The public is cordially invited to attend these services.

SPLENDID SHOW.

The showing of the "Last Days of Pompeii," at the Opera House, Wednesday night, was witnessed by a large and appreciative audience. Most remarkable was the reproduction of the volcanic eruption of Mt. Vesuvius. The picture was highly colored making the scenes very beautiful and picturesque. The next big feature that Mr. Romans will have will be "Zudora." It will be run as a serial picture and is sure to win the praise of the public.

LOYAL TO LANCASTER.

Mrs. J. C. Frank in having her paper sent to 203 West 94 St. New York has this to say: "We are always so interested in Lancaster and her dear people, and the paper will help us to keep in touch with them. I never expect to have the same feeling for any other people for no one else will ever have the opportunity to do for me and mine what they have done."

Mrs. Frank and Miss Jo. Hord have gone to New York in order that the latter may resume her studies under her former teacher, Mr. Charles Granville, who predicts a great future for her, and has shown he was proud of her as a pupil by having her name in a partial list of prominent artists who have studied under him.

Mrs. and Miss Frank are with Mr. Ashbrook Frank who has "made good" in the insurance business and is the Eastern representative of a large Co.

HALLOWEEN EPISODES.

The tricks played on our friends we call

Exuberance of youth

But when unto our lot they fall.

That's different, forsooth.

No one likes fun and to witness the "exuberance of youth" more than we do, but wanton destruction is another thing. The taking off of gates, leading into corn fields and other fields, the use of paint, tearing down of signs and other things unprintable and too numerous to print should not be tolerated by the officers. Offenders should be found out and punished.

Some iron gates, seats and swings have been carried off and the owners are unable to find them or to learn their whereabouts. Parents, ask your children if they have any knowledge of these affairs and if they have, see to it that another halloween night is observed and these things returned before

the matter is further investigated.

The matter is further investigated.

The matter is further investigated.

The matter is further investigated.

The matter is further investigated.

The matter is further investigated.

The matter is further investigated.

The matter is further investigated.

The matter is further investigated.

The matter is further investigated.

The matter is further investigated.

The matter is further investigated.

The matter is further investigated.

The matter is further investigated.

The matter is further investigated.

The matter is further investigated.

The matter is further investigated.

The matter is further investigated.

The matter is further investigated.

The matter is further investigated.

The matter is further investigated.

The matter is further investigated.

The matter is further investigated.

The matter is further investigated.

The matter is further investigated.

The matter is further investigated.

The matter is further investigated.

THE FASHION SHOP.

It is indeed a pleasure to have with us two such cultured, charming women as those connected with the Fashion Shop. They are most painstaking and courteous in their dealings and we hope they will receive such a share of patronage they will make Lancaster their permanent home.

AN EXHIBITION OF MAMMOTH VEGETABLE.

If any one doubts that Garrard Co. is the garden spot of Kentucky just let them step down to the Record office and get a glimpse of the ponderous pumpkins, kershaws, beets, sweet potatoes and turnips in our window.

Mr. Nath Bogle has the latest entry of kershaw which tips the beams at fifty three pounds. Mr. J. M. Edwards has the largest sweet potato. Also Mr. Walter East brought in the largest turnip, weight 6 pounds and Mr. J. A. Bratton brought one in weighing 5 lbs.

J. A. Agree has brought in a turnip weighing five pounds. L. E. Sherrow brought in an ear of corn weighing one and three quarters pound. Hiram Land brought in a beet weighing four and a quarter pounds, while Am. Bourne, our auctioneer brought us in a head of Cabbage big enough to feed a family on for a week and still have enough left to make a barrel of kraut.

J. E. Robinson is now trying for the "booby" prize.

WOULD BE A GOOD ORDI- NANCE FOR LANCASTER.

The necessity for a revival of the Curfew ordinance, which has been on the statute books in Lexington for a number of years, but which has been permitted to lapse into innocuous desuetude was brought to the attention of the City Commissioners at their regular weekly meeting last week.

A great many had lodged complaints with the Juvenile Court as well as with Superintendent M. A. Cassidy, of the Lexington city schools about their children running about on the streets at night, which had a tendency to impair their morals and detract from their efficiency at school.

LEXINGTON MAY BE ALL YEAR TOBACCO MARKET.

Lexington warehousemen having definitely announced, following a meeting held at the Phoenix Hotel Friday night, that the Lexington tobacco market would open Tuesday, December 1, interest in the tobacco situation as to condition of the weed, the probable average price at which the market would open and what effect, if any, the war situation in Europe would have on the market has been revived.

It was also discussed but not acted upon, that the Lexington market, following the close of the loose sales, be made a hogshead market and sales of tobacco in hogsheads be continued thru out the year, making Lexington the largest tobacco market in the world.

ELECTION PASSES OFF QUIETLY AND GARRARD Rolls Up A Good Democratic Majority.

One of the most quiet elections ever held here was that of last Tuesday, when old Garrard comes up with a good democratic majority.

Senator Beckham polls the largest vote and receives a plurality over Willson, his nearest opponent of 355 votes. Senator Camden's plurality over Bullitt being 347. In the congressional race Mr. Helm comes out with flying colors, carrying the county over his Republican opponent, Spilman, by a plurality of 361 votes. The Bull Moose party in this county appears, from the returns, to be on the wane, judging from the vote of their local candidate, Mr. J. F. Holtzclaw, who fell behind Spilman in the county nearly two hundred votes.

The bond issue carried by a two-third majority of 44, the total votes for, being 1130 to 501 against the issue.

The total vote in the county being, Beckham 1012, Willson 657, Vance 424, Camden 995, Bullitt 648, Nicholas 427, Helm 999, Spilman 638, Holtzclaw 438.

DEMOCRACY RETAINS Control Over Congress But Majority Lessens.

That the Democratic party will have control of the next Congress is assured for another two years although the result of Tuesday's election has reduced that majority quite a little. Returns indicate that the 163 majority will be reduced below the 100 mark. New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Illinois, New Jersey and Connecticut, give large republican majorities.

Kentucky gives J. C. W. Beckham a majority of nearly 40,000 and Senator Camden's majority is even larger. The eleven congressional districts throughout the state is unchanged, nine democrats and two republicans being elected. The latter two are Caleb Powers from the 11th and John W. Langley from the 10th district.

DR. E. C. MCDOUGLE TO SPEAK AT BUENA VISTA CONSOLIDATED SCHOOL.

Dr. E. C. McDougale one of the most prominent educators in the State will speak at the Buena Vista Consolidated School Saturday night Nov. 14. This will be a splendid lecture on Education and everybody is cordially invited to hear this splendid gentleman.

INVOICING STOCK.

Mr. R. S. Brown, who recently sold his stock of merchandise to Mr. G. M. Lyons of Paris, Ind., is invoicing this week. We are glad to welcome Mr. Lyons and his family among us and wish them success. Mr. Lyons has had sixteen years experience in the mercantile business and with the good will and trade of his predecessor, he should easily get his share as the business in this line.

Mr. Lyons and family have rented the Shugars property on Danville street.

NOVEL FEATURES ON AT PICTURE SHOW.

The picture show is offering some novel attractions this week both in the pictures of our own town babies and amateur stunts pulled off, such as peanut race, money hunt, apple contest etc which are creating sensations. Several prizes are being given away among which a real live baby will be given away tonight (Thursday). Come each night and get a coupon, here's your chance. Saturday night will close the contest.

HIGH CLASS ATTRACTIONS At Graded School.

During the coming season, under the auspices of the Graded School, five first class entertainments will be given. The first of these attractions will be given by the world's master magician, Robert Wassman. Mr. Wassman not only presents the best of the standard magic acts, such as the great watch mystery, but he also includes a number of illusions of his own invention and every minute of his program will be filled with enjoyment. For years he has been one of the most popular magicians on the Lyceum and Chautauque platform. He will appear Saturday night in the Auditorium of the School building Admission 25, 35 and 50 cents for reserved seats. Do not miss it.

RETIREES A. H. BASTIN SELLS INTEREST IN TELEPHONE COMPANY Goes Into Other Business.

Quite a surprise was occasioned among the business interests of the town, when it was learned that Mr. A. H. Bastin had sold out his entire holdings in the Bastin Telephone Co. to Mr. J. W. Creech and others of East Beristad, the transfer having been made November 1st. While Mr. Bastin has disposed of his entire stock and some of the stock of others, yet there is more stock still held by local citizens which may be turned over at the same figure if they desire. By buying the Bastin interest it gives the new owners complete control of all lines operated in London, Pittsburg, East Beristad, Berea, Paidt Lick and Barbourville in fact gives them an open line from Middlesboro to Lexington. Mr. Robert Corn, of London and former manager of the telephone system there, as well as President of the Barbourville exchange will be manager in charge here, he having assumed those duties last Monday morning. Until he becomes familiar with the office, Mr. Holbert Bastin will assist him for a few weeks. Mr. Corn informs us that quite a number of improvements will be done over the entire system, the open wire will be abandoned and a cable will be used instead. This will be one step towards better service and a source of gratification to the public.

Mr. A. H. Bastin, the retiring president, came here from Crab Orchard, in the year 1899, and purchased the exchange from Dr. J. B. Kinnaird, which at that time had only sixty patrons. At present about 500 phones are in use.

While retiring from the telephone business, Mr. Bastin announces that he will not leave Lancaster, but will at once engage in other business. He expects to open up a lumber yard and planing mill in the near future, as well as do contract work. Mr. Holbert Bastin will be associated with him in his new enterprise, and will be under the firm name of A. H. Bastin and Son. Mr. Bastin asks us to thank the good people of Garrard for their support and patience while in business and that his successor may be granted the same privilege. It will be a source of gratification to the many friends of Mr. Bastin and Holbert to know that such enterprising and business men as these will not leave our midst.

Come to the closing out sale at Moore's.

We Are Headquarters For HEATING STOVES

THE BEST KNOW HEATING STOVE MADE Haselden Bros.
Wholesale and Retail HARDWARE.

I am now ready with a full line of

*Millinery,
Ladies Suits and Coats*

to offer to the public at HALF ITS VALUE.

I must reduce the stock before
November 1st, when I give possession.
Call in and give me a chance to show you some bargains.

R. S. Brown.

The 12th. Episode of THE MILLION DOLLAR MYSTERY

Friday Night, Nov. 6th
AT OPERA HOUSE.

This great serial picture has attracted world-wide attention--It is being shown in the largest theaters--also being run as a serial story in the foremost newspapers of America.

SUPREME is the work of the ever faithful 'Jones' in the daring and dangerous plots so cleverly planned by the "Black Hundred Gang."

4--Big Films--4
Admission: 5 & 10 cents.

Our town is now fortified.
Please hand us that $

Come to Moore's closing out sale.

Things are selling cheap at Moore's.

Fruits of every variety at Zimmers.

Clothing sale Saturday at Moore's.

Be careful how you approach the East gate.

Pie suppers are both beneficial and profitable.

See prices on ladies and childrens shoes, at Moore's.

This fair fall is filling a few with fishing fever.

The Ladies of the Methodist church will have an exchange November 25th.

Just in, new line Stetson and Swann Hats. Logan, Anderson & Tomlinson.

The babies dressed as "September Morn" received hearty applause at the picture show.

Clean up your leaves, clean up your gardens of decaying vegetables, help to make a town beautiful.

Our heavy Corduroy and Whip-Cord suits are in. Best you can get for winter, and hard wear.

Logan, Anderson & Tomlinson.

Look at the vegetables adorning the Record office window? Who said we were going to starve to death this winter? That pumpkin is enough to keep us alive until spring.

Mr. Wilkerson continues to handle the meat as with as much ease and grace as the debutant handles her feet at a tango dance. Did you see that window he decorated with choice roasts, porter house, fresh sausage and the like? He is an artist when it comes to window decorating and he knows how to appeal to the inner man.

Hon. William Jennings Price, now U. S. Minister to Panama, arrived in Danville Saturday night for a brief visit to his parents and many friends in his old home town. Mr. Price is the picture of health, in fact, his physical condition is better than before leaving home. The climate agrees with him in every way, and is quite enjoyable. --Messenger.

Big sale every day next week, at Moore's.

FOR SALE:--Two Harley-Davidson Motor Cycles 1913 Models. First-class condition. Apply or write.

Stormes Drug Store.

TOBACCO IN GOOD SHAPE.

We believe when the stripping season is fairly on it will be found the crop is in much better shape than was generally supposed following the week of heavy rains. Considerable household tobacco will be found, but the proportion will be so small as not to seriously affect the average condition of the crops.

DON'T SWEAR NEAR COWS.

All the employees, men and women, on a large dairy farm in New Jersey have received orders to refrain from using harsh language when in proximity to the cows, it having been discovered that rough speech tends to diminish the milk supply. It has been suggested that the quality of the milk may be improved by playing phonographic music to the cows, and that if a man must swear he must swear at his wife.

CANNON MOUNTED IN PARK

The cannon secured for our town through the interest and influence of the late Senator Bradley has, at last, been mounted in the center of our public park. It points toward the east gate of the proud capital city of Garrard. Its looks, for all the world, like a real live cannon and we feel fortified and strengthened by its presence.

Senator Bradley will ever be gratefully remembered by it, proving as it does, that we were always first in his thoughts.

MILLIONS TO AID STARVING

The Rockefeller foundation has determined to employ its immense resources for the relief of noncombatants in the countries afflicted by the war, and stands ready to give "million of dollars if necessary," for the purpose. This was announced by John D. Rockefeller, Jr., president of the foundation. In pursuance of this philanthropy, the foundation will send a commission to Europe in a few days to report first hand as to how, when and where aid can be rendered most effectively. At a cost of $275,000 it already has chartered a ship and loaded it with 4,000 tons of provisions for the relief of the starving Belgians.

"This action is taken," Mr. Rockefeller says, "as a natural step in fulfilling the chartered purposes of the foundation, namely "to promote the well-being of mankind throughout the world."

Good strong line work-shoes, high tops, and low-tops, just received. Logan, Anderson & Tomlinson.

EUROPEAN WAR IN BRIEF.

The entry of Turkey into the war on the side of Germany is expected to embroil Greece, Bulgaria, Roumania and Italy.

The Italian populace is reported to be crying for Italy to enter the war to protect her interests on the Adriatic.

Ambassadors from Great Britain, Russia and France have been handed their passports by the Sultan.

Turkish invasion of Egypt is reported in London.

Germany reports that operations in Belgium have been rendered difficult owing to inundation of the country by destruction of sluices at Nieuport.

France claims to have made progress to the north of Souvain. Violent attacks on the Aisne and in the Argonne Forest repulsed.

Russia claims to have made advances on the East Prussian front and beyond the Vistula.

The American liner Kronland, held up by British authorities, is reported to be discharging her cargo at Gibraltar. London has failed to reply to America's protest.

WALTER.

Mr. John Walter, one of Garrard's best known and most highly respected citizens, passed peacefully away Wednesday afternoon at his home on Lexington street.

Death was due to illness incident to a complication of troubles. His death was not a surprise, for the last few years he has been practically an invalid, and for several months his frail life has been hanging as by a thread. The members of his family have been constantly at his bedside, but all that a devoted wife, loving children and the best medical aid could do were of no avail.

Mr. Walter was born in Jessamine County, Apr. 7th 1843, and was in his 72nd year.

He was devoted to his family, a faithful friend and kind neighbor, and all who knew him testify to his high moral character, honesty and integrity.

Mr. Walter was married February 27th 1870 to Miss Mary Mereshon, and she, together with the following children survive him: Mrs. John Barton of Sublette Ill. Mr. Sam Walter of Portland Oregon. Messrs Gabe and John Walter and Misses Mamie and Ethel Walter of Lancaster.

The funeral will be conducted by Eld. F. M. Tindler followed by interment in the Lancaster cemetery, this (Thursday) afternoon.

Remember the "Million Dollar Mystery" Friday night.

KENTUCKY MAN TELLS HOW MAYR STOMACH REMEDY RESTORED WIFE

Mrs. W. H. Clarke Is Relieved After Years of Digestive Disorders.

Mrs. W. H. Clarke, of Central City, Ky., for many years suffered from disorders of the stomach. She tried many treatments with but little encouragement.

Mr. Clarke induced her to try Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy. She got results right away. Then he wrote: "The medicine has done my wife a world of good, and I feel that it will cure her. I intend to keep on until she is completely cured, as you have been doing her more good than any one has ever done her, and she has been suffering with her stomach for years. I am glad I was told of your remedy."

Letters like that are written by users of Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy

In all parts of the country. It proves its merit with the first dose—no long treatment.

Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy clears the digestive tract of mucoid accretions and removes poisonous matter.

It brings swift relief to sufferers from ailments of the stomach, liver and bowels. Many declare it has saved them from dangerous operations and many are sure it has saved their lives.

We want all people who have chronic stomach trouble or constipation, no matter of how long standing, to try one dose of Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy—one dose will convince you. This is the medicine so many of our people have been taking with surprising results. The most thorough system cleanser ever sold. Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy is now sold here by R. E. McRoberts and druggists everywhere.

LIVE STOCK HUSBANDRY

WINTER SHEEP SHELTER.

Freedom From Drafts and Dampness the Main Consideration.

The shepherd who is wise enough to be prepared for wet winter days and cold winter nights does not dread losses from pneumonia and the mortality in the lambing season of next February and March that will come from breeding ewes that have been weakened by exposure, says a Kansas flockmaster.

It does not matter whether the sheds used by the sheep are so very warm or not, but they must not be so open that the wind can whistle through them, though there must be plenty of ventilation. Plenty of light and ventilation and freedom from drafts are the main considerations. The warmth of the shed is less important than the necessity of a good, sound roof.

Do not put more than fifty sheep in a single shed. More than that number will be hard to manage, and the chances of accidents among ewes with lamb will be greatly increased. The shed ought to be about twice as long as it is wide and there should be ample room for every animal to lie down inside its doors without the appearance of crowding the place. The floor must, of course, be absolutely dry and remain that way.

The Dorset sheep is of unmixed ancestry, one of the oldest breeds of sheep. Both sexes have horns. The rams weigh from 125 to 250 pounds; ewes from 125 to 150. Dorset wool is strong and coarse, well liked because of its whiteness. The Dorset ewes are among the best of mothers and are very prolific. If a shepherd is in the no-horned lamb business he cannot well get along without Dorset blood. The champion Dorset ram at this year's Wisconsin state fair is here illustrated.

The feeding rack should be placed on one side of the shed and should consist of a flat bottomed trough at the bottom, surmounted by a well built rack, made of slats nailed about three inches apart. Put it out far enough from the side wall so that the ewes may feed at it from both sides.

Where the space is not great enough to allow the rack to be built out from the wall so sheep can feed from both sides, the bottom of the rack will have to be built slanting enough to slide all the grain, hay, chaff, trashy bits of forage and leaves down to the side where the sheep are feeding. This will keep the far side of the rack from filling up with mucky feed.

Unless the ceiling is made very tight, it is a bad practice to store feed over a shed room occupied by sheep, as the seeds and chaff will sift down through to where the sheep are feeding or lying and help to spoil the quality of the wool.

HOGS IN WINTER.

Porkers Need Comfortable Quarters to Make Profit on Feed.

The profit in growing pigs for market depends largely on the price of their food, says a New York farmer in American Agriculturist. The feeder who depends on buying grain and mill feeds in the open market this winter is up against a hard proposition. It will require strict economy and careful attention to raise and fatten without a serious loss until his clover fields show sufficiently to have them up. Corn at 85 cents and feed at 85¢ are out of proportion to $8 hogs.

The farmer who has silage, roots, alfalfa and dairy products can carry through the winter a herd of brood sows and store sows economically provided he has good, dry sleeping quarters and plenty of fresh water. One cannot succeed without pure water, exercise and a dry, comfortable bed.

Silage For Steers.

Experiments at several stations during the past five years have proved beyond question the value and economy of corn silage in the ration for fattening steers. Silage fed steers have made the heaviest and cheapest gains, have attained the highest finish during the feeding period and have sold for the most money on the market. In five extensive trials at the Indiana experiment station steers with silage an important part of their feed have shown an average advantage of about $7.50 per head over those finished on dry feed.

Training the Colt.

During the first winter, if it has not been done before, is a good time to teach the colt to lead. A snug fitting halter and a cord loop around his back will run between the fore legs and through the halter ring seldom fails to keep him coming the right way. Young colts are easily straitened. This makes gentleness and patience more imperative than with older horses. Again, close association between caretaker and foal is always mutually profitable.

Ingeroll on Life and Death.

Life is a narrow vane between the cold and barren peaks of two eternities. We strive in vain to look beyond the heights. We cry aloud and the only answer is the echo of our wailing cry. From the voiceless lips of the unreplying dead there comes no word; but in the night of death hope sees a star and listening love can hear the rustle of a wing.—R. G. Ingeroll.

Mr. Nemo

By EUNICE BLAKE

When Tim Bradford married Ella Strong they were both young, and one was foolish. Tim was the foolish one, and there was no excuse for him because he was twenty-five years old, an age when if a man is ever going to have any sense it will surely have appeared. Ella was barely eighteen and looked to Tim for guidance.

Tim was a good looking chap and found conquests of empty headed girls quite easy. The consequence was that he was fond of that kind of amusement. He was a very deep thinker in his own opinion—and his thoughts took shape to serve his desires. When he became engaged to Ella Strong he propounded a new idea—that is, new to her, though it was becoming quite fashionable. It was that a married couple should have a great deal of liberty and be married only so long as they were satisfied with each other. This didn't trouble Ella, because she didn't wish any liberty, and she had perfect confidence in Tim's love for her.

For several years after they were married Tim let other women alone, devoting himself to his wife and a couple of children. Then he renewed his flirtations. Ella by this time was twenty-three years old. If a man is expected to have any sense at twenty-five a woman certainly should have gained some wisdom by twenty-three. Ella's complaisance to Tim's theories had vanished. She didn't mind his flirtations so long as they were scattered, but when his name began to be connected with that of another woman to his wife's mortification she objected very seriously.

But she said nothing to Tim about it. She had grown sufficiently experienced to know that when a husband or a wife begins to find fault through jealousy the matrimonial situation is in a very serious condition. Not every woman of twenty-three would realize that, but Ella did.

One day Tim received an anonymous note which warned him that his wife was maintaining a correspondence with a certain friend of his. The writer, who was evidently a woman, said that she disliked very much to tell tales, but she could not bear to see a husband and father so abominably treated. His wife was deceiving him. She hoped that her information would be in time to enable him to prevent the breaking up of his home on account of his innocent children, if on no other.

This was a terrible blow to Bradford. His wife had shown an objection to his attentions to any other women, not even the one who had occasioned the talk. He had sometimes wondered at this, but attributed it largely to the fact that when they were married it had been understood that both he and Ella should have a great deal of liberty. He had had his liberty, and now his wife was taking hers with a vengeance.

The anonymous note he had received had come to him by an afternoon mail at his office. He hurried home, to find his wife in the hall, as usual, for the matrimonial kiss. She put up her lips, but instead of meeting them with his he drew back with a thundercloud on his brow.

"Read that," he said, handing her the note he had received.

Ella read the note and said: "As for this, I am above making a reply to anonymous accusations or to bits of information given you concerning me by any one. But in this case that is of no importance, because what this woman says I admit. But I am surprised that you should take any notice of it, for it is perfectly understood between us that we were both to have every liberty in such matters."

"But"—

"What 'buts' are there? Have I ever complained of any of your affairs de coeurs?"

"But mine were innocent. I am a man; you are a woman and the mother of children."

"I consider myself as well able to flirt innocently as you are."

"But the world?"

"What is the world to me beside my own conscience? Besides, the world is throwing off its antiquated morality. The time is coming when this matter of marriage will not be riveted chains, but a daisy chain, to be broken without a tussle."

"For heaven's sake, Ella, where did you pick up such nonsense?"

"I learned it from you."

"Then unlearn it from me. It's rot."

"And leave you to practice it?"

"No; my flirtations are of no consequence in comparison to our family comfort and happiness."

"Then you will cease them?"

"Certainly, if you object to them."

"Very well. I will cease mine till I see that you have begun again; then I will begin anew."

But Tim never began again. He was completely cured. He soon insisted that he and his wife should give up society in order that they might the better enjoy their home.

"By the bye, Ella, who was the fellow that I was warned of in the anonymous note to look out for?"

"Mr. Nemo."

Going to her desk, she unlocked a drawer, took out a paper and handed it to him. It was the original of the anonymous note. She had written it herself.

"You're a Jim dandy!" he exclaimed, folding her in his arms.

Plant Improvement.

In the case of many species of plants, as wheat, flax, carnations and sugar beets, scientific breeders have already devised effective plans for ferreting out individuals with rare breeding ability along desired lines, and for thus creating new types or improving existing forms by using the subtle forces of heredity.

"Moore's Air Tight Heater" Greatest Heater of the Present Age

This Stove is to be demonstrated on the street in front of our store by a representative of the Moore Brothers Manufacturing Co.,

Saturday, Nov 7th

After the demonstration THIS STOVE WILL BE GIVEN AWAY.

If you would like to have the stove call at our office and we will explain to you the plan of how we expect to give it away.

You should not fail to see this stove demonstrated, as it will teach you something about how to economize in heating your home.

We will begin the demonstration at 7 a. m. and it will continue until 3 p. m., at which time the stove will be GIVEN AWAY!

A. F. Wheeler Furniture Co

East Main Street, Danville, Ky.

MI-O-NA QUICKLY ENDS INDIGESTION

Eat Your Favorite Food and Never Fear After-Distress.

There is a way for you to eat whatever your stomach craves. Many will say "How I wish I could but I have tried and every time it nearly kills me."

The real trouble is that people who suffer the untold agony of indigestion do not realize that the stomach has a lot of work to perform in digesting the food and if crowded with extra labor it rebels and kicks up a fearful disturbance.

Mi-o-na, a simple and inexpensive prescription, easily obtained from R. E. McRoberts drug store, will quickly and effectively stop this disturbance or money refunded. It not only increases the flow of digestive juices, but surely and safely builds up and strengthens the stomach walls so that what you eat is cared for as nature intended.

It's needless for you to suffer with indigestion, heartburn, biliousness, sour, gassy or upset stomach, for Mi-o-na tablets surely give prompt and lasting relief and perfectly harmless.

PAINT LICK.

Miss Eliza Rucker was a visitor in Richmond recently.

Mrs. T. R. Slavin was hostess at an elaborate dining on Friday.

Mrs. R. N. Beazley entertained a number of friends at a dining Friday.

Mrs. E. C. Cochran of Livingston visited Miss Eliza Rucker the past week.

Miss Delia Tindler of Lancaster, was the guest of Mrs. A. B. Estridge Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. Walker Reynolds of Tyner Ky was the week end guest of his brother Mr. G. M. Treadway.

Messrs Hubert and Hume Griggs of Richmond were week end guests of Mr and Mrs. I. C. Rucker.

Misses Jane and Mary Doty of Lancaster were the guests of Mrs. R. J. Walker the past week.

Misses Margaret Cook and Minnie May Robinson of Lancaster were week end guests of Miss Mary May Walker.

Messrs Charles Hamilton and Paul Griggs of Tucumcari, Mexico were guests of Mr. I. C. Rucker and family the past week.

Rev. J. V. Logan who conducted a series of meetings at Old Paint Lick church returned Thursday to his home in Middlesboro Ky.

Dr. and Mrs. Burdett Ramsey, who have been spending several months with their daughter in Stanford, returned Monday to spend the winter with Mr. and Mrs. Burdette Ramsey.

The friends and patrons of the High School were given a most delightful time on Saturday evening when the pupils of the school gave their play "The Haunted Gate" to a large and appreciative audience. This was followed by Halloween games of all kinds in the chapel which had been decorated in a manner suitable to the occasion. About $45. was realized and this money will be used in making improvements about the building.

Wall Paper

We have in stock this season a full line of

IMPORTED OATMEALS

besides the ordinary papers we are carrying.

McRoberts Drug Store

STATE NORMAL

RICHMOND, KY.

A TRAINING SCHOOL FOR TEACHERS

Courses leading to Elementary, Intermediate and Life State Certificates. Valid in all Public Schools of Kentucky. Special Courses and Review Courses. Tuition Free to Appointees. Two splendid dormitories, new model school, new manual training building, practice school, department of agriculture, a well equipped gymnasium. Domestic Science. First Term begins September 7, Second Term November 16, Third Term January 25, Fourth Term April 5. Summer School opens June 14. Catalogue Free. J. G. CRABBE, President.

Despondency Due to Indigestion.

It is not at all surprising that persons who have indigestion become discouraged and despondent. Here are a few words of hope and cheer for them by Mrs. Blanche Bowers, Indiana. Pa. "For years my digestion was so poor that I could only eat the lightest foods. I tried every thing that I heard of to get relief, but not until about a year ago when I saw Chamberlain's advertised and got a bottle of the same, did I find the right treatment. I soon began to improve, and since taking a few bottles of them my digestion is fine." For sale by all dealers.

BUENA VISTA

Mrs. T. M. Scott is on the sick list. Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Evans were in Danville Saturday.

Several of our citizens attended court in Harrodsburg Monday.

Benj. Lane of Louisville visited relatives here last week.

Mr. R. L. Elkin of Lancaster was in our village Friday on business.

R. M. and W. L. Poor of Wilmore were here on business last week.

Mrs. Chas. Dietrich and children visited in Nicholasville Saturday.

J. W. Askins and wife spent the first of the week with relatives in Burgin.

Mr. Joe Wood of Jessamine County spent the week's end with Chas. Dietrich.

Mrs. Belle McConn of Lexington is visiting her daughter Mrs. H. S. Christopher.

Mrs. C. F. Isen has returned from a pleasant visit with her daughter Mrs. John Davis of Hazard.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Munday of Georgetown spent part of last week with Joe Hamilton and family.

BEREA.

Mr. C. I. Ogg is suffering very much from a mashed hand.

Mrs. Peck, wife of Prof. J. N. Peck is very ill with appendicitis and will undergo an operation in a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. William Long, whose house was burned about a week ago, are living with their son, Hardin Long at present.

Appendicitis seems to be the prevailing ailment these days. Several have been operated on at the Berea College Hospital in the last few months.

The Berea Corn Show and Agricultural Fair held in Berea Saturday Oct. 31st was a brilliant success. Every one seemed to take a decided interest in it. The display of the farm products was good to look upon. It showed that people were interested in their work and knew how to do things too.

A greater interest is being taken in agriculture than ever before, and much of the interest is due to the many government Experiment Stations which are scattered about over the country. We hope the good work will continue. The features of the day were as follows:

The display was arranged in the fore noon. The speaking began at 1:30 p.m. Prof. John F. Smith gave the opening speech on "Agriculture in the public schools". He was followed by J. W. Whitehouse on "Cattle and Silos", J. W. Herndon "Education for the Farmer", Wm. Jesse Baird "Better Farming Makes Better Folks", H. W. Rick-ey, "Poultry Clubs", Prof. F. O. Clark "Fruit", Robert Spence "The Short Winter Course in Agriculture". The last and one of the most interesting features was the awarding of prizes by President Frost. Many prizes were awarded and the Berea folks carried off their share of the awards.

The display was arranged in the fore noon. The speaking began at 1:30 p.m. Prof. John F. Smith gave the opening speech on "Agriculture in the public schools". He was followed by J. W. Whitehouse on "Cattle and Silos", J. W. Herndon "Education for the Farmer", Wm. Jesse Baird "Better Farming Makes Better Folks", H. W. Rick-ey, "Poultry Clubs", Prof. F. O. Clark "Fruit", Robert Spence "The Short Winter Course in Agriculture". The last and one of the most interesting features was the awarding of prizes by President Frost. Many prizes were awarded and the Berea folks carried off their share of the awards.

The display was arranged in the fore noon. The speaking began at 1:30 p.m. Prof. John F. Smith gave the opening speech on "Agriculture in the public schools". He was followed by J. W. Whitehouse on "Cattle and Silos", J. W. Herndon "Education for the Farmer", Wm. Jesse Baird "Better Farming Makes Better Folks", H. W. Rick-ey, "Poultry Clubs", Prof. F. O. Clark "Fruit", Robert Spence "The Short Winter Course in Agriculture". The last and one of the most interesting features was the awarding of prizes by President Frost. Many prizes were awarded and the Berea folks carried off their share of the awards.

The display was arranged in the fore noon. The speaking began at 1:30 p.m. Prof. John F. Smith gave the opening speech on "Agriculture in the public schools". He was followed by J. W. Whitehouse on "Cattle and Silos", J. W. Herndon "Education for the Farmer", Wm. Jesse Baird "Better Farming Makes Better Folks", H. W. Rick-ey, "Poultry Clubs", Prof. F. O. Clark "Fruit", Robert Spence "The Short Winter Course in Agriculture". The last and one of the most interesting features was the awarding of prizes by President Frost. Many prizes were awarded and the Berea folks carried off their share of the awards.

The display was arranged in the fore noon. The speaking began at 1:30 p.m. Prof. John F. Smith gave the opening speech on "Agriculture in the public schools". He was followed by J. W. Whitehouse on "Cattle and Silos", J. W. Herndon "Education for the Farmer", Wm. Jesse Baird "Better Farming Makes Better Folks", H. W. Rick-ey, "Poultry Clubs", Prof. F. O. Clark "Fruit", Robert Spence "The Short Winter Course in Agriculture". The last and one of the most interesting features was the awarding of prizes by President Frost. Many prizes were awarded and the Berea folks carried off their share of the awards.

The display was arranged in the fore noon. The speaking began at 1:30 p.m. Prof. John F. Smith gave the opening speech on "Agriculture in the public schools". He was followed by J. W. Whitehouse on "Cattle and Silos", J. W. Herndon "Education for the Farmer", Wm. Jesse Baird "Better Farming Makes Better Folks", H. W. Rick-ey, "Poultry Clubs", Prof. F. O. Clark "Fruit", Robert Spence "The Short Winter Course in Agriculture". The last and one of the most interesting features was the awarding of prizes by President Frost. Many prizes were awarded and the Berea folks carried off their share of the awards.

The display was arranged in the fore noon. The speaking began at 1:30 p.m. Prof. John F. Smith gave the opening speech on "Agriculture in the public schools". He was followed by J. W. Whitehouse on "Cattle and Silos", J. W. Herndon "Education for the Farmer", Wm. Jesse Baird "Better Farming Makes Better Folks", H. W. Rick-ey, "Poultry Clubs", Prof. F. O. Clark "Fruit", Robert Spence "The Short Winter Course in Agriculture". The last and one of the most interesting features was the awarding of prizes by President Frost. Many prizes were awarded and the Berea folks carried off their share of the awards.

The display was arranged in the fore noon. The speaking began at 1:30 p.m. Prof. John F. Smith gave the opening speech on "Agriculture in the public schools". He was followed by J. W. Whitehouse on "Cattle and Silos", J. W. Herndon "Education for the Farmer", Wm. Jesse Baird "Better Farming Makes Better Folks", H. W. Rick-ey, "Poultry Clubs", Prof. F. O. Clark "Fruit", Robert Spence "The Short Winter Course in Agriculture". The last and one of the most interesting features was the awarding of prizes by President Frost. Many prizes were awarded and the Berea folks carried off their share of the awards.

The display was arranged in the fore noon. The speaking began at 1:30 p.m. Prof. John F. Smith gave the opening speech on "Agriculture in the public schools". He was followed by J. W. Whitehouse on "Cattle and Silos", J. W. Herndon "Education for the Farmer", Wm. Jesse Baird "Better Farming Makes Better Folks", H. W. Rick-ey, "Poultry Clubs", Prof. F. O. Clark "Fruit", Robert Spence "The Short Winter Course in Agriculture". The last and one of the most interesting features was the awarding of prizes by President Frost. Many prizes were awarded and the Berea folks carried off their share of the awards.

The display was arranged in the fore noon. The speaking began at 1:30 p.m. Prof. John F. Smith gave the opening speech on "Agriculture in the public schools". He was followed by J. W. Whitehouse on "Cattle and Silos", J. W. Herndon "Education for the Farmer", Wm. Jesse Baird "Better Farming Makes Better Folks", H. W. Rick-ey, "Poultry Clubs", Prof. F. O. Clark "Fruit", Robert Spence "The Short Winter Course in Agriculture". The last and one of the most interesting features was the awarding of prizes by President Frost. Many prizes were awarded and the Berea folks carried off their share of the awards.

Four Strong Points

Good Wheat.

Clean Milling.

No Blend.

No Bleach.

If Bleached and Blended Flour questions your health, why take a chance? Use and be safe.

GLEN LILY

Garrard Milling Co.

HOTEL Powhatan HOTEL OF AMERICAN IDEALS WASHINGTON D.C.

Pennsylvania Avenue, at 18th & H. Sts.

RATES:
Rooms, Deluxed Bath
$1.50, $2.00 up.

RATES:
Rooms, Private Bath
$2.50, $3.00 up.

OVERLOOKS WHITE HOUSE.
Elegant Apartments, Palm Court,

Indian Grill Room, Tea Room'

Colonial Furnishings, Library,

Grand Pipe Organ, Orchestra.

Write for Illustrated Booklet "B" with small map.

CLIFFORD M. LEWIS

MANAGER.

Automobile OWNERS ATTENTION.

When in Lexington why not stop at a Garage where prompt and satisfactory services are rendered.

We have the largest and best equipped Tire Repair Shop in the State and our Machine Shop, which is modern in every respect is handled by the best machinists obtainable.

All our work is guaranteed and our prices are reasonable.

Central Motor Car Co.

135-138 South Limestone.

Lexington, - - Kentucky.

STYLE AND QUALITY

considered, we claim we sell the best that can be had in Men's Clothing when we offer you the

HART--SCHAFFNER & MARX LINE

SUITS AND OVERCOATS in stock at $18.00, $20.00, $22.50, $25.00. Other good Clothing in Suits and Overcoats in ALL WOOL FABRICS at $10.00 AND $15.00.

Men's Shoes.

Ladies Shoes.

Childrens Shoes.

HOUSE OF QUALITY.

Jas. W. Smith. LANCASTER, KENTUCKY.

THE CENTRAL RECORD

INCORPORATED.

ISSUED WEEKLY. $1.00 A YEAR.

J. F. ROBINSON, EDITOR.

R. L. ELKIN, BUSINESS MANAGER.

Entered at the Post Office at Lancaster, Ky., as second class matter.

Member Kentucky Press Association.

and

Eighth District Publishers League.

Lancaster, Ky., November 5, 1914.

Rates for Political Announcements

For Precinct and City Offices . . . $ 5.00

For County Offices 10.00

For State and District Offices . . . 15.00

For Calls, per line 10

For Cards, per line 10

For all publications in the interest of individuals or expression of individual views, per line 10

Obituaries, per line 05

The European war not only concerns the participants and all of Europe, but the United States as well. True, we deprecate the war, our feeling is one of profound sympathy, regardless of their nationality, but there is another side to this terrible affair which we cannot and should not ignore. America, because of her vast resources and ministered activity, will be required to assume the rank of the world's greatest power? Are we able to meet this requirement? At present we lack meat, milk, wool, horses and mules. Our business should be to build up our industries, so that we may be prepared to accept our responsible position as producers for millions of people. The war's demand on American granaries, mills and packing houses has been beyond our expectations. France is demanding immense quantities of fresh beef, we are exporting millions of donkeys of sugar and the producer of wheat is certainly enjoying his labors of the past year. He is now able to dispose of every pound of his grain and every day of the war abroad adds to the farmers bank account. It has been said all along our country would not be called upon for corn. This has not been shown to be a mistake, as the supply of old corn is exhausted, and it is now said that a large portion of the new crop has been contracted for. Oats sold liberally to exporters last week, and it is believed that foreigners have orders in all the large markets for more.

With England supplying free tobacco to her troops and the plants in both

France and Germany running at full pressure are good reasons that we will have demand for our crop and that it will bring a good price. Considerations like these should turn the attention of many to farming and it should turn the attention of those already farming to $15. Suits $7.00 at Moore's.

Fresh oysters and celery at Zimmers.

Look at your Label and send us that dollar.

Take your "Oh's and Ah's" of delight with you when you go to hear Was-smann, you will need them.

"SLUMBERLAND".

This mammoth musical extravaganza will be presented at the Ben Ali Theatre in Lexington, on the nights of Nov.

13th and 14th, with a matinee on Saturday the 14th. This wonderful play is given under the auspices of the Teachers Club of Lexington, and should receive a liberal patronage from this community.

THE TURK MUST GO.

The Turk in Europe is a menace to civilization, and a stigma on European statesmanship.

Long ago the oppressed of centuries should have been freed from the oppressor, and the system of savagery and butchery for which the Turk stood should have been eradicated. Now

Turkey enters the war arena and seals his doom. The desire of two centuries will, at last, be realized, for what-over happens in Europe, the Turk must go.

CONN-GARRIQUE.

On Wednesday evening at 6 o'clock, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. B.

Conn, their daughter, Miss Estelle, was quietly married to Mr. William E.

Garrigue, of New York City. The bridal party stood in front of an improvised altar formed of ferns and yellow chrysanthemums.

Rev. J. Rockwell Smith performed the ceremony, only the family and in-imate friends being present. The bride was stylishly attired in a green broad cloth tailored suit, with traveling hat to match, while the groom was dressed in the conventional black suit.

Immediately following the ceremony

a wedding dinner was served, the same decorations of yellow being used and carried out in the menu. In the center of the table was a large bride cake, while running from the chandelier to the corners of the table were yellow tulle streamers caught up with yellow chrysanthemums.

Miss Estelle is an energetic young lady of charming personality and well equipped in every way to be a helpmate. The groom is a fine business man having extensive business interests in New Orleans where they will make their future home. He is the son of a noted German surgeon and scientist.

After the wedding dinner they left in an automobile for Danville, where they took the train for New Orleans.

RYE AND BARLEY WHEN

FROZEN ARE DANGEROUS

When Eaten By Sheep And Hog, Fermentation Ensues Killing Them.

During the late fall months it is not uncommon for the experimental station to receive reports from different sections of the state requesting information and assistance in combating sudden losses in sheep and hogs. On visiting these farms it has been found that these fatalities in some instances could be traced to frozen rye or barley.

In order to avoid further losses of this nature this year all swine and sheep owners should take special precaution to keep these animals off of rye and barley fields immediately after a severe frost or freeze. Frozen rye and barley sometimes prove deleterious and animals should be allowed only a very limited amount of this feed while it is in a frozen condition. Severe frosts frequently check the growth of these two winter forage plants and leave them in a withered condition. In this stage they undergo fermentation and are injurious to animals.

If you want bargains come to the closing out sale at Moore's.

J. C. W. BECKHAM,
Senator Elect, Long Term.

SENATOR JOHNSON N. CAMDEN
Re-elected for Short Term.

FARMERS INSTITUTE

NEXT WEEK.

A representative from the State Agriculture Department at Frankfort was in this county last week advertising a farmers institute for Friday and Saturday of next week. He reports the leading farmers deeply interested and that quite a number are cooperating with Mr. H. V. Bastin who is the president of the local organization to make this meeting beneficial to the county.

The state furnishes to the people experienced and qualified lecturers on the various subjects covering the agricultural and stock raising interest of the county free of all expense and to get all the benefits the farmers have only to lay aside their work for two days and attend this meeting.

Garrard County farmers have made great progress in recent years and is largely attributable to the new ideas received through these Institutes. The most profitable two days of the whole year the farmers of the county could spend would be at this institute.

The Cat Record, says prohibition has taken the "gin" out of Virginia, the "sp" out of Mississippi, the "kan" out of Kansas, most of the "tuck" out of Kentucky, has reduced the "nois" in Illinois and will take the "watter" out of Waterson.

SIMILAR TO 23 PSALM.

1. My wife is my boss, I shall not deny.
2. She maketh me lie down behind the bed when swell company comes, and she leadeth me up Broad street.
3. She restoreth my pocketbook after she hath spent all its contents on hobbie skirts and theater tickets, and she leadeth me up the main aisle at church for her new hat's sake.
4. Yea! Though I walk more than half the night through darkness with crying babe, I will not rest; for she is behind me. Her broomstick and her hat pin, they do everything but comfort me.
5. She prepareth a cold snack for me, then maketh a bee line for an aid society. She annogeth my head with the rolling pin occasionally. My arms runneth over with bundles before she is half done her shopping.
6. Surely her dressmaker's and milliner's bills shall follow me all the days of my life; and I will dwell in the house of my wife forever.

TOBACCO OR NOTES FOR EDUCATION

This College Will Take Notes or Tobacco to Educate Young Men for Success, Make Money and Become Honored Citizen.

The Wilbur R. Smith Business College, Lexington, Ky., an old and reliable institution with 38 years prestige in educating thousands of young men and women for success, is commended for assisting deserving young men and women to get an education at this college, by receiving notes, tobacco or other crops, if desired, for tuition. If you wish a knowledge of Bookkeeping, Shorthand, Typewriting or Telegraphy, and the assistance of this popular College, we advise you to write at once, asking for particulars. Address, Wilbur R. Smith Business College, Lexington, Ky.

SCHOOL NOTES.

(By Wm. F. Miller.)

The Parent-Teacher's meeting was a success and will be a pleasant evening Friday.

Mr. T. J. Price who has been attending school at M. M. L. entered school here last Monday.

Bro. J. W. Beagle, visited our school Tuesday morning and conducted the devotional exercises.

Miss Brashear's room will entertain Friday morning at 8:15; you are cordially invited to be present.

Mr. Wm. Mac Elliott who had the misfortune of breaking his arm about two weeks ago, returned to school Monday.

C. U. Preps of Danville who was billed to play L. H. S. Foot Ball Team last Friday, did not arrive, just why they did not come, we haven't found out, as they neither telephoned or let us know in any way. This was promised to be a good game.

Miss Tindler's room entertained last Friday morning. The stage was decorated with pumpkins and such things as to show the "Hallowe'en" spirit. The following were guests:

Mrs. Alex Walker and daughter, Mrs. Caneer and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Embry, Miss Emma Doty, Mrs. Siler, Mrs. S. H. Estes, Mrs. Sam Haselden, Mrs. Bright Swinebroad, Mrs. Haglan and two children, Mrs. Jessie Dunn, Mrs. Albert Ware and little daughter, Mrs. Emma Elkie, Miss Lena Bright, Mrs. Ben Cormeg, Miss Annie Austin, Mr. and Mrs. Jas Benzley, Miss Nancy Long, Mrs. Ben Robinson, Miss Mary B. Robinson, Miss Eliza Lunsford, Miss Marie Ballard, Mrs. Walton Moss, Mrs. F. M. Tindler and son, Mrs. Prayther, Mrs. Sweeney, Mrs. Dalton, Mrs. Sullivan.

Lancaster High School Foot Ball Team defeated the Nicholasville Three-Kel and High School Combined Foot Ball Team, on the local gridiron, Monday by the score of 18 to 0.

On last Monday before a large crowd and on a good field, weather just right and both teams in very best of condition, The L. H. S. Foot Ball Team defeated the Nicholasville bunch by the score of 18 to 0.

Nicholasville kicked off to Lancaster, Rainey received the ball and carried it to the 40 yard line, after several end runs and forward passes, the ball was turned over to Nicholasville, but a fumble by Walker for the visitors and our right end, Rich, being so fast got the ball and carried it over the line for a touch down. Bourne attempted to kick the goal but failed, Lancaster then kicked off to Nicholasville and the end runs, fave kicks Nicholasville pulled off, helped them to go for about 25 yards, after which the ball was first turned over to Lancaster who had it in her position up within 40 yards of the goal being made by Herron receiving forward passes from Bourne when time was out for first quarter. The second quarter the ball was held about the middle of the field, first turning from one side to the other end runs, by G. Bourne, Bourne and Elliott and long forward passes to Herron, seemed as if Lancaster would make a touchdown whether or no. The ball was in Nicholasville's territory, under Lancaster's possession, when time was out for 2nd quarter. Nicholasville then kicked off to Lancaster and Rich carried it for a distance of 10 yards, Forward passes to Herron for good gain of 12 to 15 yards was made at nice "bucks" of Wilmot seemed like he was making an end run right through the line, he always made from 6 to 8 yards on "bucks." Elliott carried the ball over the goal line for the 2nd. touchdown and again Bourne missed the goal making the score 12 to 0. Lancaster kicked to Nicholasville and Walker, who was Nicholasville star received the ball and carried it for a good gain but Lancaster soon recovered the ball and then it went over to Nicholasville after which Lancaster made end runs and the ball was in her possession when time was out 3rd. quarter, just 25 yards from goal Nicholasville defended.

Beginning the fourth quarter,

Bourne made several end runs after which three beautiful forward passes were received by Herron (2), and Rainey (1), for gains of 15 yard or more, the last pass received by Herron, he went within 2 yard of the goal but Wilmot with one of his "hit the line heavy" very easily carried it over for the 3rd touchdown. Bourne attempted goal but missed making the first score stand 19 to 0 with 2 minutes longer of the game to play.

Nicholasville kicked off to Lancaster, Billy Miller received the ball and carried it to the 40 yard line, after which end run, time was out and L. H. S. victors over N. T. and H. S. Foot Ball team.

This game was among the best ever played on the local grounds and each player could not have improved any. The umpire and referee for Lancaster was Mr. J. M. Mount and Nicholasville Mr. Kerkpatrick gave fair decision to both sides. The game was cleverly played and it looked as if Nicholasville would stand back when Wilmot was called for a huck, as well as good plays on passes and the whole team especially well.

The all-round playing of Wilmot, Herron, Elliott, B. Bourne and G. Bourne was greatly admired by the crowd.

This is the first time Nicholasville has been beaten but were out of their class when they tackled Lancaster. Referee, Mount, Umpire Kerkpatrick, Local Lineman, Jno. McRoberts, Time quarters, 10 minutes.

Goals Total.

Lancaster: 1 0 1 1 0 5

Nicholasville: 0 0 0 0 0 0

The Foot Ball team reports that although Lancaster has a good team they have developed the proverbial yellow streak. Several attempts have been made to get games, but as yet the efforts have been unsuccessful. -Lancaster Journal.

If the minds of the Stanford athletes have not turned to muscle, perhaps they will revert to some athletic contests that took place between the Stanford and Lancaster boys.

One game, at least will never be forgotten. Yellow streak, did you say? Well, if the Lancaster boys ever show a yellow streak, it has yet to be developed, and as they are still amateur at the yellow streak business they do not care to run upon it again, neither do they care to run upon coaches and old men in a foot ball game as they claim to be nothing but what they are - school boys.

Don't fail to see Wassman, the great Magician, at the High School Auditorium Saturday night at 8:30.

October Honor Roll.

William Anderson, Elsie Pathergill, J. O. Bogle, Henderson Bogle, Mittie Dunn, Elizabeth Dudley, Dora Haglan, Linda Jennings, Lettie Jennings, Virginia Sutton, Lucile Stapp, Sarah Black, Ida Mae Baierlein, Paul Morrow, Elizabeth Haglan, Marrs Swinebroad, Ruth Taylor, Eugene Dunlay, Lucile Ramsey, Frances Grant, Ardella Lerner, Anna Lee Poff, Marge Montgomery.

A Treat Indeed.

The Foot Ball boys were given a delightful box of candy last Wednesday evening by Misses Robinson, Brashear, Ezell and Hatcher. We are very grateful indeed for their kindness.

L. H. S. Ft. Ball Boys.

WATCH THE WEATHER.

The great uncertain element, when killing pork, is the weather. Many a farmer, in the sections through which this paper circulates, has killed hogs during a cool spell and then had all his meat spoiled by a sudden change to warm weather. Last year, throughout Kentucky and Tennessee, thousands of dollars' worth of pork joints were spoiled and made unwholesome during a few days of unexpected and unreasonable warm weather. The same misfortune took place in other sections of the South.

Indeed, the problem of killing and curing hog meat in warm weather is very vital to Southern farmers and one which involves a large cash value. The thing is, do not kill too soon and when you kill have the weather conditions right. Pork is too high to lose.

BIG MEN DISCUSS

WOMAN'S SUFFRAGE.

I ask no political right for myself that I am not willing to have granted to my wife. -William Jennings Bryan.

LADIES

SUITS

ARE SELLING FAST.

An Excellent Value in Hand
Tailored Gaberdine Suits

$20.00

All Wool
Cheviots. . . . $17.50Serge Suits $15.00 selling at . . .

Joseph Mercantile Company.

OUTFITTERS FOR WOMEN.

BIG Reduction on all Trimmings
BEGINNING, SATURDAY,
OCTOBER 31st, 1914
Rella Arnold.

HOOSIER 8 DISC WHEAT DRILLS $55.00

Van Brun Fertilizer Disc Wheat
Drills. Ensilage Cutters, Gasoline and Kerosine Engines

J. R. Mount, Son & Co.

Now's The Time
For Filling Up

if your coal bin is empty or even half full. It's folly to wait until you have to scrape up the last scuttle from the bottom of the bin. Order now, get the benefit of lowest market prices and run no risk of delay on account of earlier orders.

Lancaster Lumber & M'fg Co.

Gossip About People

A Brief Mention of the Comings and Goings by Those We Are Interested In.

Mr. Frank Moore is in Illinois for a stay of a few days.

Mr. E. H. Batson is in Wayne City, Ill., for a short stay.

Mr. Earl Tatum of Richmond was a recent visitor in Lancaster.

Miss Bettie Reynolds has been in Stanford visiting her parents.

Mrs. R. J. Selman of Memphis, Tenn., is the guest of Miss Minnie Brown.

Mr. Clarence Hicks of Richmond was a recent guest of Miss Minerva Cox.

Mrs. Jennie Broadbush is visiting here daughter, Mrs. Floyd Curtis of Paint Lick.

Hon. Harvey Helm of Washington D. C. was here Friday mingling with friends.

Miss Elsie Morris of the Hubble section is in Hamilton, Mo., for a visit to relatives.

Miss Aldridge of Stanford is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Haselden.

Miss Della Rice Hughes is at home after a visit to aunt, Mrs. J. W. Avey, of Stanford.

Mr. George F. Estes visited his brother Rev. Harvey M. Estes of Georgetown last week.

Mrs. U. D. Simpson left Friday night for a visit to relatives in Middleboro and Fork Ridge, Tenn.

Mrs. Cleveland Ross has been the recent guest of her mother Mrs. Belle Perkins of Stanford.

Mrs. W. A. and T. J. Price were week-end guests of Dr. and Mrs. S. P. Grant of Danville.

J. H. Arnold of Frankfort arrived Monday for a visit to relatives and also to vote the Democratic ticket.

Mrs. J. C. Robinson returned Monday from a visit of two weeks to her sister Mrs. Wm. Jones of Clark county.

Mrs. W. O. Bradley of Frankfort is here for a visit to her sisters, Mrs. Pattie Gill and Miss Jennie Duncan.

Mr. and Mrs. Bohon Campbell and little daughter of Stanford spent Sunday with her mother Mrs. Joanna Ball.

Mr. R. Eason and son Frank have returned to their home in Lexington after a visit to Mr. and Mrs. Pendleton Cox.

Miss Annie Bronaugh returned today from Corbin and is again assistant saleslady in Miss Arnold's millinery establishment.

Mr. H. D. Tomlinson, junior member of the firm of Logan, Anderson and Tomlinson, returned home Wednesday after a week's stay in Chicago, Ludlow, Latonia and other points East.

Mrs. W. S. Walker has returned from a protracted stay with Mr. and Mrs. Towles Walker in Connersville, Ind., and her daughter Mrs. Calloway in Smithfield.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Childress of Villa Grove, Ill., and Mrs. Mary Jennings of Arcola, Ill., have returned home after a pleasant visit to Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Jennings.

Miss Lillian and Donald Estes entertained at a Halloween party last Saturday night. About twenty of their little friends were present and many amusing games were played. Ice cream, cakes and candies were served and all report a good time.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Aker have taken rooms with Mrs. C. D. Powell.

Mrs. Carlton Elkin is in Liberty for a visit to her aunt Mrs. Kidd.

Mrs. Givens P. Terrill and children were recent visitors in Danville.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Raymond Haselden motored to Winchester, Sunday.

Mrs. W. A. Price is in Nicholasville visiting her sister Mrs. Ed. Perkins.

Miss Pearl Bettis is in Frankfort for a stay with her sister Mrs. Jesse Arnold.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Simpson are visiting their aunt, Mrs. Belle Pierigo, of Lexington.

Mrs. Jennie Broadbush and Mrs. Floyd Curtis were shoppers in Richmond, Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Price were guests on Monday of Dr. and Mrs. A. S. Price of Stanford.

Dr. J. P. Riffe of Earhanger was here Sunday the guest of Postmaster Ephraim Brown.

Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Gregory and baby were in Richmond Monday for a visit to relatives.

Mrs. Wm. J. Kinnaird and daughters of Middleboro are here for a visit to the Misses Kinnairds.

Mrs. Ike Dunn and children of Lexington are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Guley.

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Hays of Louisville are here visiting her parents Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Zanoze.

Dr. and Mrs. J. B. Kinnaird were in Lexington recently to see their daughter, Miss Patsy Kinnaird.

Mr. and Mrs. Stonie Sebastian and Miss Grace, visited Mr. and Mrs. L. C. King, Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. Charles Adams of Lexington will arrive Friday for a visit to his parents Mr. and Mrs. Jack Adams.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Aker have taken rooms with Mrs. C. D. Powell.

Mrs. Carlton Elkin is in Liberty for a visit to her aunt Mrs. Kidd.

Mrs. Givens P. Terrill and children were recent visitors in Danville.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Raymond Haselden motored to Winchester, Sunday.

Mrs. W. A. Price is in Nicholasville visiting her sister Mrs. Ed. Perkins.

Miss Pearl Bettis is in Frankfort for a stay with her sister Mrs. Jesse Arnold.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Simpson are visiting their aunt, Mrs. Belle Pierigo, of Lexington.

Mrs. Jennie Broadbush and Mrs. Floyd Curtis were shoppers in Richmond, Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Price were guests on Monday of Dr. and Mrs. A. S. Price of Stanford.

Dr. J. P. Riffe of Earhanger was here Sunday the guest of Postmaster Ephraim Brown.

Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Gregory and baby were in Richmond Monday for a visit to relatives.

Mrs. Wm. J. Kinnaird and daughters of Middleboro are here for a visit to the Misses Kinnairds.

Mrs. Ike Dunn and children of Lexington are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Guley.

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Hays of Louisville are here visiting her parents Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Zanoze.

Dr. and Mrs. J. B. Kinnaird were in Lexington recently to see their daughter, Miss Patsy Kinnaird.

Mr. and Mrs. Stonie Sebastian and Miss Grace, visited Mr. and Mrs. L. C. King, Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. Charles Adams of Lexington will arrive Friday for a visit to his parents Mr. and Mrs. Jack Adams.

Mrs. Mary Hunter of Crab Orchard was the guest Tuesday and Wednesday of Mrs. Emma Grant and daughters.

Mrs. Sarah Maret of Shelbyville and Mr. and Mrs. John Hudson Boner of Camp Nelson are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Jack Adams.

Mrs. Robert Whittaker and little son of Kansas are here for a visit to Mrs. Whittaker's parents Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Pumphrey.

Mrs. O. U. Terrill will return Friday to her home in Fleming, Ky., after a stay of two weeks to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Adams.

Mr. Hugh Miller who has been here visiting his mother Mrs. Dora Miller, returned this week to Hinkley, Minn., where he holds a good position.

Little Miss Margaret Herring entertained several of her little friends at a Halloween party. The occasion afforded much fun for those present.

Mrs. Bruce Lawson was hostess at an elaborate course dinner at her pretty country home, the honor guest being her sister Mrs. O. U. Terrill of Fleming Ky.

Mrs. W. O. Bradley of Frankfort, W. S. Elkin, and sister Miss Jennie Duncan motored to Stanford for a visit to their sister Mrs. Charlotte Warren.

The Annual Silver Tea of the Missionary society will be held at the Presbyterian church on Thursday evening Nov. 12. Everybody is most cordially invited.

At the Chautauqua Circle Tuesday which met with Miss Bettie Robinson the interesting theme was "With Tenyson in the Isle of Wight", and the study of his poems.

Mr. George Smith, Jr. who has been confined to his bed for several weeks, suffering with his eyes, left Tuesday for Cincinnati, where he will be under the treatment of Dr. Sattler.

Miss Agnes Miles is in the city the pleasant guest of Miss Nancy Long.

Mr. Smith Pavey and son, Smith T. Jr., paid our office a pleasant call Wednesday.

Mr. Alvin Estes of Richmond was the guest of his sister Miss Mattie Estes Wednesday.

Mrs. Lizzie Welsh and M. W. Wilde, of Mich. have been the guests of Mrs. A. C. Miles.

Mrs. W. S. Elkin will return Saturday to her home in Atlanta after a visit to her sister Miss Jennie Duncan.

Mr. E. C. Barnard of Washington, D. C. has been a pleasant visitor in our town for several days. He joined his wife here who has been with her mother, Mrs. P. D. Gill and they left together for Washington Wednesday.

Mrs. Frank Fairleigh, Mrs. Ernest Sprague of Louisville and Mrs. Joseph Huston and daughter Miss Inell Huston of Philadelphia came Friday in Mrs. Fairleigh's car to be week-end guests of Mrs. William P. Cook.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. McDowell of Richmond are rejoicing over the arrival of a nine pound boy who arrived at their home in time Tuesday morning to go with "Daddy" to the polls to vote the Democratic ticket. The little fellow has been christened Landon Lamer.

Miss Florence Johnson and Mr. Allen Johnson entertained at a masked Halloween Social on the evening of the 31st at the suburban home of their uncle, Mr. T. E. Arnold in De Land Fla. All characters as witches, ghosts, owls and such were represented. During the evening refreshments of ice, fruits, nuts and mints were served.

Miss Mayne Lee Marose entertained the Phylathia class of the Baptist church Tuesday evening. And later in the evening the Baraca class from the same church stormed this class of young ladies. Delightful refreshments were served and all reported a nice time.

Capt. W. C. McFarland of New York paid a flying visit to the family of Judge K. A. Burnside Wednesday. Capt. McFarland married one of Lancaster's most gifted daughters, Miss Addie Landrum, who died last winter, but her memory will always be cherished here. Capt. McFarland has a host of friends here who wish his stay had been longer.

Miss Jane Haselden entertained at a pretty Halloween party Saturday evening at the home of her parents Mr. and Mrs. J. Raymond Haselden. About 25 of her young schoolmates and friends were present to help the young hostess celebrate the happy occasion. The house was tastefully decorated with autumn leaves, chestnuts and trailing vines. Lighted pumpkins greeted the guests upon their arrival. The "spooks" room with its weird appearance, its crowning fortune teller and its tempting apples swaying from a string ready to be grasped by the passers-by, all presented an attractive scene. The ghosts and spectres in many forms, some garbed in white and others in black, made the evening a very unusual one to the youthful participants. The delicious refreshments served added to the pleasure of the merry throng.

The Christian Endeavors were given a Halloween Social at the home of Mr. Robinson Cook, Saturday night. At the appointed hour, Robinson Cook with Harry Raney gathered the members and their invited guests in wagons and conveyed them to his home, where they were met at the door by a ghost who pointed them to the stairway, where another ghost with upraised hand directed their way up the stairs, only to meet another apparition on the second floor. The masked parties, weird lights, decorations of black cats, with- es, with numbers of games, and fortune telling by Miss Mason filled the hours with fun and merriment. Six new members were added to the ranks. Mr. Joe Kavanaugh and Miss Morris receives shipments of High Class New York Goods each week, thus insuring the very latest snappy styles in SUITS, COATS and ONE-PIECE DRESSES. Adjoining Opera House, Richmond Street.

The - Fashion - Shop.

The - Fashion - Shop.

Favorite Recipes Of

Well Known Women.

BY MISS ELIZABETH J. DOTY, MARKSBURY, Ky.

GINGER SNAPS.

1 cup of sugar.
1 cup of lard.
2 teaspoons of soda, dissolved in 1 cup of hot water pour over the ingredients. Flour enough to make it the required thickness to roll out and cut.

received the prizes, while Mr. Dan Elliott and Miss Lida Rainey received the consolation prizes. A delightful lunch of sandwiches, nuts, fruits and hot chocolate was fully enjoyed. All left full of good cheer, and with many compliments to Kammann who never does anything half way.

The Danville Messenger has the following to say of a reception that will be of interest to many.

Mrs. Robert Harding entertained yesterday afternoon at her country home on Main street with a beautiful reception in honor of Miss Mary Reid of Danville, Mrs. Creel Brown, of Louisville, and Mrs. W. L. Porro, of Rochester, N. Y. It was one of the delightful events of the season and about one hundred guests were present. The home is one of the most attractive in Danville and for the occasion was thrown open and was decorated with exquisite taste, yellow and white prevailing. The drawing room where the guests were received, pink was used entirely, with clematis and sinlax as a setting. Everywhere on mantles and tables were baskets and vases of pink roses and festooned over the folding doors, opening into the hall and dining room were pink roses and sinlax. The dining room was entirely in yellow decorations. The round table was of special beauty in its appointments. On the table was an exquisite lace cover over yellow satin. In the center was a glass stand covered in fruit, on which rested a tall cut glass vase filled with yellow chrysanthemums. In silver candle sticks were white candle sticks covered with yellow shades and in silver baskets and bowls were yellow and white confections. Tees and cakes were served. A yellow decorative scheme was carried out in the small dining room, the coffee table having a central ornament of yellow flowers arranged in a French basket, the handle of which was tied with a butterfly bow of yellow tulle.

Ladies and gentlemen were cut from local prices of 1000.

Come to the clearing out sale of R. H. Batson stock of goods.

Left full of good cheer, and with many compliments to Kammann who never does anything half way.

The Danville Messenger has the following to say of a reception that will be of interest to many.

Mrs. Robert Harding entertained yesterday afternoon at her country home on Main street with a beautiful reception in honor of Miss Mary Reid of Danville, Mrs. Creel Brown, of Louisville, and Mrs. W. L. Porro, of Rochester, N. Y. It was one of the delightful events of the season and about one hundred guests were present. The home is one of the most attractive in Danville and for the occasion was thrown open and was decorated with exquisite taste, yellow and white prevailing. The drawing room where the guests were received, pink was used entirely, with clematis and sinlax as a setting. Everywhere on mantles and tables were baskets and vases of pink roses and festooned over the folding doors, opening into the hall and dining room were pink roses and sinlax. The dining room was entirely in yellow decorations. The round table was of special beauty in its appointments. On the table was an exquisite lace cover over yellow satin. In the center was a glass stand covered in fruit, on which rested a tall cut glass vase filled with yellow chrysanthemums. In silver candle sticks were white candle sticks covered with yellow shades and in silver baskets and bowls were yellow and white confections. Tees and cakes were served. A yellow decorative scheme was carried out in the small dining room, the coffee table having a central ornament of yellow flowers arranged in a French basket, the handle of which was tied with a butterfly bow of yellow tulle.

Information as to whereabouts of Amelia Murphy, deceased if living, if dead as to her relatives.

G. B. Swanson & Son, Danville, Ky.

A few good values in ladies' coats and suits left at half price.

Logan, Anderson & Tomlinson.

For Rent.

My property in Lancaster, Ky., or Stanford Street adjoining Christian church for rent. Possession given January 1st. Mrs. F. J. Mason.

For Sale.

Sixty acres of land, 2 1/2 miles from Lancaster on Sugar Creek pike. Good house, barn and plenty of water.

Herndon & Walker, Lancaster, Ky.

Kentucky Red Berkshire For Sale.

I have 10 nice young hogs for sale. They are from Anna Bell and Fancy Lady, the choice of my herd.

W. B. Denny, Lancaster Ky.

Wanted.

Wanted to rent a farm of about 200 acres. Money rent. Can give satisfactory reference. E. B. Creech.

Lancaster, Ky.

Clarks best thread 4 cts at Moores.

city Tax And Water Rent.

Remember that the penalty will go on your taxes in a few days and to save this expense your taxes should be paid at once. Your water rent must be paid, or the water will be cut off. There will be no exception to this rule and all will be treated alike. L. E. Herron.

City Marshall.

YOU'LL FIND IT IN THIS COLUMN.

Mens Suits half price at Moores.

Fresh oysters and celery at Zimmers.

Goods 25, 50 and 75 cts. on the dollar at Moores.

House and lot on Lexington street, for sale or rent. Mrs. Susan Fisher.

Children Cry for Fletcher's

CASTORIA

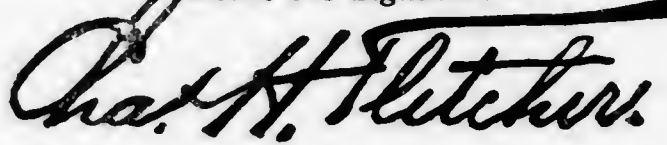

The Kind You Have Always Bought, and which has been in use for over 30 years, has borne the signature of Dr. J. C. Fletcher and has been made under his personal supervision since its infancy. Allow no one to deceive you in this. All Counterfeits, Imitations and "Just-as-good" are but experiments that trifle with and endanger the health of Infants and Children—Experience against Experiment.

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. It destroys Worms and allays Feverishness. For more than thirty years it has been in constant use for the relief of Constipation, Flatulence, Wind Colic, all Teething Troubles and Diarrhea. It regulates the Stomach and Bowels, assimilates the Food, giving healthy and natural sleep. The Children's Panacea—The Mother's Friend.

GENUINE CASTORIA ALWAYS

Bears the Signature of

In Use For Over 30 Years
The Kind You Have Always Bought

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

What "Bee Dee" Means

"Bee Dee" on the label means REAL VALUE inside the package, and RESULTS and SATISFACTION after the contents have been used. Always ask for "Bee Dee" when you buy a stock or poultry remedy. "Bee Dee" remedies are prepared from pure, medicinal ingredients, in a scientific way, and are genuine medicines that you can depend on.

Bee Dee STOCK & POULTRY MEDICINE
LIMB—DIP
Bee Dee Healing Powder—Bee Dee Colic Remedy

After using the Bee Dee Remedies generally for some time, we take pleasure in saying that they are giving entire satisfaction, and we cheerfully recommend them.

McMillen Stock Farm,
Waco, Texas.
You can get them at your dealer's.

P. B. 6

BUYERS TO SHARE IN PROFITS
LOWER PRICES ON FORD CARS

Effective from August 1, 1914 to August 1, 1915 and guaranteed against any reduction during that time

TOURING CAR	$490.
RUNABOUT	$440.
TOWN CAR	$690.

(In the United States of America only)

Further, we will be able to obtain the maximum efficiency in our factory production, and the minimum cost in our purchasing and sales departments if we can reach an output of 300,000 cars between the above dates. And should we reach this production, we agree to pay as the buyer's share from $10 to $50 per car (on or about August 1, 1915) to every retail buyer who purchases a new Ford car between August 1, 1914 and August 1, 1915.

For further particulars regarding these low prices and profit-sharing plan see Madison Garage.

Kentucky Drills.

Will sow accurately any seed from the smallest flax seed to the largest cow pea.

All Kentucky Drills have the immense advantage of the low hitch, it has also a general purpose disk, being especially good in hard ground, crusty tough soil, unplowed stubble or root land. Equipped with chilled bearings which are simple and durable, drag bars of heavy high carbon steel, built of the best material throughout. Get our price and don't experiment with some new thing. Get the Standard of Drills, the KENTUCKY.

Becker, Ballard & Co
PHONE 27. BRYANTSVILLE, Ky.

SUNDAY SCHOOL.

Lesson VI.—Fourth Quarter, For
Nov. 8, 1914.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, Gal. vi. 1-10—Memory Verses, 1, 2—Golden Text, Gal. vi. 7—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

The Golden Text is awfully true, even for redeemed people, that "Whatsoever a man sows that shall he also reap." We have recently seen in our studies Judas Iscariot reaping something of the reward of iniquity. But we have also seen Jacob doing some hard sowing in the way of deceiving his father, and we have seen him suffering for over twenty years by reaping of the same kind through the deceit of his own sons.

The reaping is really more than we sow, as it is written in Hos. viii. 7, "They have sown the wind, and they shall reap the whirlwind." Again, in Hos. x. 13, "Ye have plowed wickedness, ye have reaped iniquity; ye have eaten the fruit of lies, because thou didst trust in thy way." Again, in Prov. xlii. 8, we read, "He that soweth iniquity shall reap vanity." But there is a sowing to the Spirit and a reaping to life everlasting (verse 8).

The two aspects are seen in Jer. xviii. 3, 7, "Cursed be the man that trusteth in man and maketh flesh his arm, and whose heart departeth from the Lord." "Blessed is the man that trusteth in the Lord and whose hope the Lord is." From beginning to end of the Bible story it is God or the devil—God's way or man's way. The one is life, the other is death.

According to the epistle in which we find our lesson, the age is evil. The devil, who is the god of this age, has a gospel of his own and enough religion to satisfy most people. But all more good works of men leave all under the curse, for the law requires absolute perfection in every detail and is intended to turn us from ourselves to Christ. Nothing that man can do avails anything. Men must become new creatures in Christ (chapters 1, 4, 8, 9, 13, 14; III, 10, 21; VI, 15). In the fullness of time God sent forth His Son to redeem them that were under the law, hopelessly trying to save themselves by doing the best they could, listening to the devil's gospel of good works and character and aiming to be like Christ without being born again (chapter IV, 4, 5).

Not until we see Christ crucified for us, made a curse for us, bearing our sins in His own body and, receiving Him, see ourselves as crucified with Him, are we new creatures (chapter II, 20; III, 13; John 1, 12). Then we will gladly say, "God forbid that I should glory save in the cross of our Lord Jesus Christ, whereby the world is crucified unto me and I unto the world" (vi. 14). Whatever form of sin may have been our specialty as listed in chapter v. 29, 31, the sin that is greater than all others and greater than all put together, the sin that causes eternal loss is the rejection of Jesus Christ as the Son of God and the only Saviour of sinners (John III, 18).

When we are made free from the curse and have become children of God by faith in Christ Jesus then it is our privilege to walk in the Spirit, be led of the Spirit, stand fast in the liberty wherewith Christ hath made us free and not to the things which the flesh that is still in us would have us do (chapter III, 13, 26; v. 1, 13, 17, 18, 25). Those who are in the flesh live unto themselves, self is their center; they mind earthly things (Ib. 18, 19). The new creature in Christ lives no longer unto himself, but is able to say, "To me to live is Christ." (Ib. 1, 10; Phil. 1, 21; Gal. II, 20).

When we see others overtaken in a fault, as all are apt to be at one time or another, it is not for us to condemn them, but meekly restore them, remembering that we might some day need similar kindness and restoration. Thus we would manifest the Spirit of Christ, who freely forgives and sends: "Neither do I condemn thee, rise and sin no more" (lesson verses 1, 2). When Noah became drunk it was more Christlike to cover up his shame, as Shem and Japheth did, than to tell it, as Ham did. We have no right or reason to think anything of ourselves or to think that we know anything as we should (verse 3; I Cor. VIII, 2). A proper attitude is that of Rom. vii. 18, "I know that in me that is, in my flesh dwelleth no good thing."

There is a sense in which we must bear our own burden (verse 5). "Every one of us shall give account of himself to God" (Rom. xiv. 12). If we have been redeemed from the curse of the law we are here to do good unto all as we have opportunity, having reference first to believers, the household of faith; never weary in well doing, knowing that the reaping time is sure and that our labor is never in vain in the Lord (verses 8, 10; I Cor. ix. 58). We may not see nor do the reaping, for we may sow for another to reap, or we may reap from another's sowing. But both sower and reaper shall rejoice together and gather fruit unto life eternal (John IV, 36-38). "Whoever may plant or water, God alone can give the increase, but what an honor to be laborers together with God" (I Cor. III, 5-9). Another verse comes to mind on sowing and reaping. See II Cor. ix. 6, and say it to heart, "He which soweth sparingly shall reap also sparingly, and he which soweth bountifully shall reap also bountifully."

Remarkable Cure of Croup.

"Last winter when my little boy had croup I got him a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I honestly believe it saved his life," writes Mrs. J. B. Cook, Indiana, Pa. "It cut the phlegm and relieved his coughing spells. I am most grateful for what his remedy has done for him." For sale by all dealers.

Making a Man of Him

By DONALD CHAMBERLIN

"Who is the ladylike young man visiting you, Mrs. Crabtree?"
"My nephew."
"He looks as if he had come in a handbox. What's his name?"
"Albert."
"What are you going to do with him, put him in a store window to show his clothes?"

"No. I brought him here to try to make a man of him. He is my brother's son. His father died when he was a baby, and he has been brought up by a dotting mother. He had a nurse till he was fourteen, then a governess. Since then his mother has not been willing to trust him with any one but herself, and she is the worst caretaker he has ever had."

"Poor fellow! I have known cases like that."
"His father was a splendid man, and Bert is as like him as possible at his age except, while the father was taught to rely on himself, the son is handicapped by a mother who wishes to make a milkop of him."

"As the twig is bent the tree's inclined."
"That's it exactly. You can dwarf a man as well as a tree. Now, Bess, I wish you to help me make a change in the boy."

"I? How can I do anything about it?"
I suggested a plan by which she could make a start in Bert's reformation. He had never associated with any one but girls, and I knew that if I turned him at once over to the boys they would soon send him back to me. I proposed to initiate him through a girl who was more of a boy than boys usually are. There was something else I didn't tell Bess. In order to get Bert away from his mother I told her that I would make him my heir. But he was to remain with me so long as I lived.

I warned Bess to go slow at first with Bert, but she didn't heed the warning. She took him out in a canoe, upset it (on purpose) and was obliged to swim ashore, holding him up, for he couldn't swim a stroke. The feat was difficult, and it sobered the girl. She didn't upset him any more, but she forced him to learn to swim.

His next lesson was in horsemanship. Her first lesson in this was more gentle than her swimming lesson. At any rate, she gave it on turf where there was no danger of killing him when he took a tumble, which he did every few minutes during his first lesson. Bess was encouraged from the fact that when thrown he scrambled back on to his horse without being urged to do so.

When winter came such sports as swimming, horsemanship and the like gave place to skating and skiing. Bert put on skates, which he had never used, hobbled down to the ice, his feet went up into the air, and he went down on the back of his head. But he was true grit and, getting up, struck out, fell again and kept it up, Bess alternately laughing and encouraging him. Then she skated with him, and doubtless he found that quite pleasant.

I don't claim that Bert made a first class swimmer or skater or rider. To do these well one must begin very young. Indeed, it was not my purpose to make him proficient in any of these. What I wished was to draw him away from the feminine tastes of his mother, his governess and his nurse and implanted in him the developed taste for manly amusements, and this drew him toward manliness generally. Bess took charge of him when he was seventeen, and when she had had him a year he would occasionally break away from her for companionship of his own sex. Within two years there was not a vestige of femininity in him. Then he went to college, and since he had developed physically, coming as he did of brave stock, he surprised us all by becoming a candidate for and winning a place on the university football team.

When his college won the championship during his senior year Bert, who was very active as well as strong, was one of the principal men on the team, and it was he who gained the points that gave them the game. I took Bess to see the game, and she was not only very much interested in it, but very proud of one whom she had converted from a Miss Nancy to a sterling man.

I had observed that this training of my nephew had been attended with that of which I by no means disapproved. It was plain that the two had become seriously attracted to each other. The day Bert was graduated from college he came to me and told me that he and Bess were engaged. Bess came to me as soon as he had left me to see for herself how I viewed the matter.

"Well, Bess," said I, "you have made a man out of a milkop."
"He never was a milkop!" she interrupted angrily.
"Anyway, I suppose you deserve him and something else besides—a pecuniary consideration."

"What do you mean by that?" she asked, bridling.
I told her that when Bert had come to me I had promised his mother to make him my heir. "I will do better than that," I added. "I will settle a fourth of my fortune on you and him jointly now."

Bess sprang into my arms.

Cholera's Natural Home.

The marshy ground of the Ganges delta, with its vast masses of vegetation, decaying under a tropical sun, is the native home of the cholera. In that pestilential region the cholera and plague are found every year and all the year round. Every cholera epidemic which has desolated Europe, every visitation of the plague, is believed to have started from the mouth of the Ganges.

Cured His Obesity.

Peter the Great was once traveling incognito in a part of Finland when he met a very fat man, who told him that he was going to St. Petersburg.

"What for?" asked the czar.
"To consult a doctor about being so fat, which has become very oppressive."

"Do you know any doctor there?"
"No."

"Then I will give you a line to my friend, Prince Menshikoff, and he will introduce you to one of the emperor's physicians."

The traveler went to the prince's house with a note. The answer was not delayed. The next day, tied hands and feet, the poor man was dragged off on a cart to the mines.

Two years after Peter the Great was visiting the mines. He had forgotten the incident of the fat man, when suddenly a miner threw down his pick, rushed up to him and fell at his feet, crying:

"Grace, grace, what is it I have done?"
Peter looked at him, astonished, until he remembered the story.

"Oh, so that is you!" he said. "I hope you are pleased with me. Stand up! How thin and slight you have become! Go, and remember that work is the best cure for your complaint!"

How Do You Laugh?
Refinement can be indicated as strongly by the manner in which a person laughs as by the tone of the speech in tones.

If some people could hear the tone they use while muzzling they would doom themselves to perpetual sadness. A real hearty laugh is like a tonic to the system. It not only does the person good who enjoys it, but it does every one good who hears it.

Of such a laugh there is no criticism. But there are people who do not enjoy laughing, but who laugh in a forced and artificial manner, and generally at the most inopportune moment.

An affected laugh by either a man or a woman is a counterfeit of the true feelings. There is no necessity to laugh loudly, the heartiest laugh is the softest in tone.

Remember, when laughter is natural it is irresistible and beautiful, and when it is forced it falls like rasping brass upon refined ears.—Philadelphia Telegraph.

Brazil's Name.

Long before the Portuguese colonized the coast of Brazil adventurous Bristol merchants had equipped expeditions in a vain search for the supposed island of Brasyle. Who gave Brazil her present name is unknown to fame—the early Portuguese called it Terra do Veru Cruz—but whoever baptized the country took the name from the East Indies. For many years before the discovery of Brazil merchants had brought from the east for the use of dyers a wood which yielded a beautiful red color—brasil or brasilly. The West Indies have trees of the same sort, but Brazil contains them in more abundance than any other country. So that Brazil wood is not called so after the country. The country is named so because of its red dye trees.—London Chronicle.

Travels of Roots.
Roots travel amazing distances in search of their requirements. A timber merchant, excavating for a sewer in England, found an elm root one and a quarter inches in diameter and sixty-three feet long, running through a bed of sawdust from the tree to the nearest water.

The aggregate length of root thrown out by some plants is almost incredible. A cucumber will, within its short life of about half a year, throw out from ten to fifteen miles of roots.

Clover roots will go straight down to a depth of six to nine feet in search of moisture, and coltsfoot, one of the most powerful and persistent of weeds, sends its suckers down to an even greater depth.—London Stray Stories.

Lost the Point.

The Teacher—Now, children, listen to this Thomas Campbell, the famous poet, once walked six miles to a printing office to have a comma in one of his poems changed to a semicolon. Why did he take all that trouble? Bright Boy—"Cause he didn't have no telephone.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Publicity.

"It's a bad thing to talk about your delinquency."
"That's right," replied the man who is all business. "Publicity is worth something these days. I shouldn't think of talking about anybody except at advertising rates."—Washington Star.

Another Recipe.

Aspiring Novelist—Ah, sir, I am highly flattered, I'm sure, to hear that you take my book to bed with you and read it there! Acquaintance—Yes, I have been troubled with insomnia for a long time, and I find one of your pages much better than any medicine.

A Sore Point.

"The world will recognize me after I am dead," said the dying artist.
"I beg of you," exclaimed the distinguished Latin-American, "let me not start any more of these complicated arguments about recognition!"—Washington Star.

The Secret Incentive.

When I read history and am impressed with any great deed I feel as if I should like to see the woman who is concealed behind it as its secret incentive.—Heinrich Heine.

Good nature and common sense are required from all.

Important.

Bear in mind that Chamberlain's Tablets not only move the bowels but improve the appetite and strengthen the digestion. For sale by all dealers.

B. F. HUDSON, President. J. J. WALKER, Vice Pres.
W. O. PIGNEY, Ass't Cash'r. JOE J. WALKER, JR., Book-Keeper.
W. F. CHAMP, Cashier.
— ORGANIZED 1883. —

The Citizens National Bank OF LANCASTER, KY.

Capital $50,000. Surplus $40,000.

This bank is supervised by the United States Government. Your deposits are thus guarded; safety should be first in all things. Deposit with us, and you can help us, and we can help you. Make this bank YOUR bank.

THE NATIONAL BANK OF LANCASTER.

Capital $50,000. Surplus $30,000.

A. R. JENNY, President. J. E. STORMES, Vice Pres't.
R. 1. JENNY, Ass't Cashier. S. C. DENNY, Cashier.
J. L. GILL, Book-Keeper.

Safety Deposit Boxes For Rent.

WE SOLICIT YOUR BUSINESS.

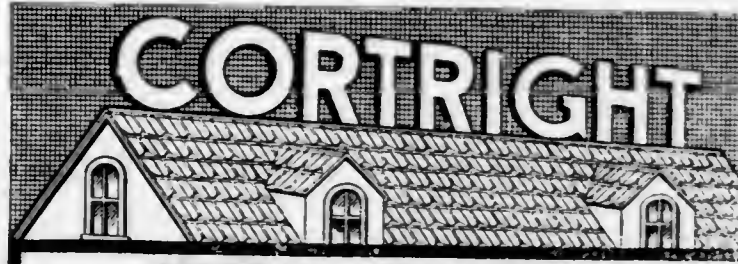

Samuel D. Cochran, Alex R. Denny, J. H. Posey, J. E. Stormes, S. C. Denny, J. L. Gill, Dr. W. M. Elliott, Directors.

Draw A Check for the money you owe and note how much more respectfully your creditors regard you. They like to do business with a man who has an account at the Garrard Bank & Trust Co.

They know he is doing business in a business like way. Better open such an account even if your affairs are not large. They will grow all right.

The Garrard Bank & Trust Company

CORTRIGHT
METAL SHINGLES
Are Stormproof

They interlock and overlap in such a way that the hardest driving rain or sifting snow cannot possibly get under them. Besides this—they last indefinitely, and never need repairs. Another point—They're very reasonable in first cost. You can learn all about them from Local Contractors or Cortright Metal Roofing Company.

50 North 23rd Street, Philadelphia.

DAKOTA JACK
The Northwestern Cowboy
ORIGINATOR OF PURSLEY'S INDIAN HERBS

Dakota Jack's
INDIAN REMEDIES
have made his name famous all over the United States and Canada.
Composed of Roots, Herbs, Bark and Berries. For treatment of Human Diseases.
Pursley's Indian Herbs—45 Days' Treatment, $1.00
Dakota Jack's Cowboy Linctament, 25c
Dakota Jack's Creme Soap, Price 10c, 3 bars 25c
ALL ON SALE AT
C. C. & J. E. Stormes and R. E. McRocers.

AWELCOME VISITOR.
where it is known, as a box of our sparkling ginger ale, orange soda or other of our carbonated beverages. If you have not yet tried any or all of them you don't know what a fine treat you have been missing. Don't keep on missing it. Order a box to-day and commence enjoying yourself.

Lancaster Bottling Co. Phone 202.

We Write Any Kind of INSURANCE
Office at National Bank.
J. A. BEAZLEY & CO.
Office over The National Bank of Lancaster, Ky. Phone 27.

POULTRY and EGGS

EARLY LAYING PULLETS.

Unwise Policy to Force Chickens to Premature Maturity.

There is a vast difference in the time in which pullets of the different breeds will commence to lay, being anywhere from four to nine months of age, writes the editor of the Western Poultry Journal. I have known Leghorn pullets to lay when they were 100 days old, but never knew one that commenced under 135 days to make more than an ordinarily prolific hen. It is no trick to make pullets of almost any breed lay at four months if this object is kept in view from the time the chicks are hatched, but these forced pullets are made prematurely ripe and de-line rapidly into senile old age without ever becoming good layers. Steady growth and full development of every part and function of the body are what we should strive for more than early maturity. It is as bad to allow the pullets to develop too slowly as it is to force them to early maturity. In all things there is a happy medium, and in the case of egg production it means the maximum result.

The Black Orpington breed of fowls is of English origin and was first introduced in 1862. The breed is believed to be a mixture of Minorca, Langshan and Plymouth Rock blood. The fowls soon became popular, and new varieties were turned out. The typical Orpington, whatever the variety, is a large, stately fowl with rather short legs. The breast is full and round, the back broad and the body deep. As a table bird it is excellent, and the hens are good layers.

The dry mash or ground grains for fattening pullets should not be too rich or stimulating, as it will force them along too rapidly. Such mash can be given when the pullets are of full size and ready to lay, or if they do not lay when the proper time arrives ground grains and meat, rich in protein, are resorted to, and the pullets readily respond to this feed. In raising pullets we should take into consideration the specific purpose for which they are designed. If we want them for eggs only and do not care to keep them longer than the first laying year it will not be necessary to bestow as much care on the feed as if we designed to use them for brooders or retain them a second season for egg production. An early hatched pullet which commences to lay in the summer or fall and is forced to lay maturely will produce her greatest number of eggs in the ten months following the dropping of the first egg. If she is allowed to live she will produce one-half to two-thirds as many eggs in the next twelve months. Carefully grown her period of usefulness may be extended, and while there is a great difference in hens, they will average to lay from 75 to 80 per cent of their first year's production the second laying season—that is, those which have been carefully reared will.

HOUSES FOR POULTRY.

Suggestions as to Location and Construction of Henhouses.

In order to get plenty of sunlight, choose a southern or southeastern exposure.

If possible make use of natural shelter against cold winds. Select the southern side of a hill, an orchard or building.

The house must be dry. A site that provides natural drainage is desirable. Locate the house in as convenient a place as possible.

Fresh air houses should always be used. Cold air, if dry and without drafts, is conducive to hen health.

Floors may be earthen, board or cement. Earthen floors may be damp and are hard to clean. Board floors are best for portable houses. Cement floors are best for permanent houses and may easily be kept sanitary.

Walls should be cheap and durable, providing warmth. They should be about five feet high in the rear and from six feet to eight feet high at the front.

The best types of roofs are the A roof, shed, or gable roof.

Prepared roofing material is better than shingles or tar paper.

All fixtures should be portable to permit of easy cleaning.

Keep Pure Bred Hens.

There is no dependence on common, mongrel hens for egg production. At times individual hens will be found that do good laying, but as a class there is too much of a haphazard mixture to realize any good results. Get a laying strain of some pure breed.

The Terror
Of Darkness

By SAMUEL E. BRANT

"I have wondered," said Ned Foster, "since an episode that occurred to me in the dark that blind persons are not all afraid of darkness. Children who fear nothing by daylight are timid when they can see nothing. Women who will spend day after day in a house alone will look under the beds at night for robbers, although at the time surrounded by their family."

"While travelling I entered a city one evening where there was a celebration of some sort and was obliged to sleep in the same room with some one else. I did not see the other fellow, nor did he see me. There was a bed for each of us, and he was in his bed before I went to the room. His face was turned from me, and all I could see of him was a little bald spot on the back of his head."

"I addressed, but my wallet, containing a couple of hundred dollars, under my pillow, turned off the light and went to bed."

"I am not an effeminate man or a coward by daylight, but I am free to confess that the moment I found myself in a dark room with a strange man in my room I was overcome. There is no doubt that the Irish were the first people to recognize the value of the potato as a staple article of food. Youth's Companion."

"I could not sleep. My throat was dry, and I wished for a drink of water. I found that if I arose to get one my roommate might fear that I was getting up for some hostile design against him. I was as much afraid of his fears as I was of him. However the night was as hot as my throat, and slipping out of bed quietly, I groped toward what I supposed to be the washstand."

"What was my horror at putting my hand on hair, not only on hair, but the bald spot of a man's head that it surrounded. I withdrew it immediately and retreated on tiptoe. But since I could see nothing I had no idea where I was going. I kept my two hands extended before me, and the first thing I struck was some glass article with a very large top and a very small bottom. It fell with the usual crash made by breaking glass."

"I heard nothing from my roommate, but fancied that he was doing just what I would do under the circumstances—that is, he had grasped whatever defensive weapon he had and was prepared to defend himself to the death. I stood horror-stricken after knocking over the glassware, my heart beating like a kettledrum. I listened, but heard no sound. I felt sure that I had awakened my roommate by putting my hand on his head and that he was keeping perfectly still so as not to reveal himself. Had I heard any movement I would have felt easier."

"Click!"

"Was it the clicking of a revolver or one of those sounds that come from a crackling caused by expansion under heat? I did not know, but under excitement I felt sure it was the former. A cocked pistol was undoubtedly pointed into the darkness. I made matters worse, for now I would not dare strike a match even if I could find one."

"I stood still for what was probably a minute, though it seemed to me a quarter of an hour. Then, touching the wall, I concluded to try to find my way. But I did not know which way to move. If I went wrong I might stumble over the bed of my roommate. In the dark a sense of direction leaves us. I was obliged to take a frightful risk, but it was no worse than suspense. I felt my way, making no sound in my feet until I heard in the floor creaked under my tread."

"My heart stood still, and so did I. I then remembered that sound alone does not give direction, and I grew bolder. Passing my hand along the wall, I came to the door frame. Now I had my bearings. I remembered that my bed was beside the door, and in another moment I reached it. Possessing myself of my money, I stood considering what to do. I had no match with which to strike a light and would not dare use it if I had one. I concluded to take advantage of being near the door and get out of the room even at the risk of being shot."

"With my valuables in one hand I unlocked the door with the other; then, opening it quickly, I slipped out into a dark hall. Finding a speaking tube nearby, I asked the night clerk to come to me and gave him the situation. Not having been worked upon by the dark as I had been, he bravely opened the door of the room I had left, went in and lit the gas. I followed him."

"There in the other fellow's bed was the bald spot I had been turned toward me. The clerk went up to the man and spoke to him. No answer. The clerk shook him. Still there was no apparent consciousness."

"He's sound asleep," said the clerk. I noticed when he came in that he was very full."

"Well," said I, "if the fool killer should come along he would take me and bury me at the stake."

POTATOES AS FOOD.

At First Only the Seed of the Tubers
Was Thought Fit to Eat.

When potatoes were first used for food it was the "seed" or "apple" that was used, and it was some time before the tuber was found to be the most delicious food. Up to the end of the seventeenth century the potato was out of the reach of people of moderate incomes. It is recorded that in 1682 potatoes were sold at 1 shilling 25 cents a pound in the London markets, but the sale was small because so many people believed that the potato caused leprosy and fever. Others declared that they were endangering their souls if they ate the potato, since the tuber was not mentioned in the Bible.

The late Duke of Argyll in his history of Scotland says that little or nothing was known of the potato in Scotland until long past the middle of the eighteenth century. The Duchess of Devonshire in her "Household Book" for the year 1701, speaks of the potato as "an essential of great rarity."

Hubb Miller, in his "Schools and Schoolmasters," says that his maternal grandfather about the year 1740 used to bring home in his pocket some three or four potatoes as great rarities grown by the country, for he was a friend of the head gardener at Balmawater castle. Thomas Carlyle tells us that his father got possession of four potatoes and knew so little about them that he hid them away for a possible time of want and that potatoes were saved to be eaten at Halloween. There is no doubt that the Irish were the first people to recognize the value of the potato as a staple article of food. Youth's Companion.

COLORED MOTION PICTURES

They Are Made by Using Screens of Red and Green Glass.

There are colored motion pictures that are made so by hand, each little picture being painted separately. In making pictures "in natural colors" the film is the same as that of the ordinary motion picture. But in making it the speed is twice as fast, thirty two pictures to the second.

"Colored" pictures are photographed through mats or screens of colored glass. Two primary colors are used, red and green, with a sympathetic touch of blue. When the machine that makes the photograph is started a device causes the red screen to pass before the lens as the first photograph is taken, and the green screen passes the same way as the following pictures is made. They continue to do so alternately as the film continues to be exposed.

The negative is developed and a positive printed, and when run through the projecting machine the color screens are used in the same way as when the negative was made, red and green pictures being flashed on the screen alternately. These colors that are in sympathy with the red are brought out, and those that are in sympathy with the green are shown in the same way, and through the persistence of vision we do not notice the changes. Instead they blend harmoniously to our delight.—Charles M. Seay in American Boy.

When Gas Was New.

There is a tradition to the effect that when domestic lighting by gas was still a novelty Sir Walter Scott introduced it into every room and staircase of the house that he was building in Abbotsford and did so without provision for any unexpected failure. His entering into possession was made the occasion for a house warming on a scale of considerable magnitude, and in the very middle of the festivities all the lights suddenly went out. The guests were left in absolute darkness until such time as mounted messengers could return from Melrose, whither they had been dispatched with instructions to collect all the tallow candles and in some cases candlessticks which the village contained.—London Times

Function of Literature.

"A book," said Dr. Johnson, "should show one either how to enjoy life or to endure it." Was ever the function of literature expressed more pungently or justly? Any man who enjoys or endures has a right to speak if he can. He can help others to enjoy or endure if he has a right to speak, if he do not as to his part in life, while if he cannot ceaselessly enjoy he can at least endure uncomplainingly.—A. G. Benson in Century Magazine

More Than He Needed.

"At the end of my fours and a half if you are in town," said the judge, "you will be arrested on the same charge."

"You may five full hours of that time back," said the lawbreaker. "I can get along with the thirty minutes."—Philadelphia Ledger Scared.

"What was the matter with old Boozie when he called the doctor at midnight last night?"

"He thought he had lost his sense of taste. His wife's hat was on the dining room table and he ate the grapes off it."—Houston Post

Golden Fleece.

The noted order of the Golden Fleece is a military one instituted by Philip the Good, duke of Burgundy, in 1429, on the occasion of his marriage with the Portuguese princess, Isabella. The order now belongs to both Spain and Austria.

If you know how to spend less than you get, you have the philosopher's stone.—Franklin Remarkable Cure of Croup.

"Last winter when my little boy had croup I got him a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I honestly believe it saved his life," writes Mrs. J. B. Cook, Indiana, Pa. "It cut the phlegm and relieved his coughing spells. I am most grateful for what his remedy has done for him." For sale by all dealers.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The Kid You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of Dr. J. C. Watson

Have you not dyspepsia?

"No."

"Then what's the use of acting all the time like you had?"—Louisville Courier-Journal

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The Kid You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of Dr. J. C. Watson

Have you not dyspepsia?

"No."

"Then what's the use of acting all the time like you had?"—Louisville Courier-Journal

LUKE MCLUKE SAYS,

After a man has had a bride and an automobile for a while he begins to take an interest in other models. Virtue may be its own reward, but it is seldom big enough to purchase expensive gowns and willow plumes. Ignorance may be bliss. But that don't keep a woman from hiring a private detective to trail her husband. The Stork is a mean old cuss. He waits until you give the baby buggy away because the first baby has learned to walk, and then makes another call.

SAUERKRAUT.

Who was it first invented kraut, and put it in a barrel? Some scientist should find it out, and deck his tomb with laurel. For kraut's a good old honest dish, and when, with eager talons, we throw it in our holds, we wish that we could eat three gallons. For sauerkraut's savory and clean, and not the least cordy, and it contains no nicotine, or benjamin of soda. I always give a jovous shout, glad of my feelings inner, when grandma says she'll cook some kraut (with other things) for dinner. And towards the stove, throughout the day, with anxious eyes I'm looking; and neighbors seven miles away all know just what's a cooking. The intense that you read about around the dump is propin' when granny cooks a mess of kraut and leaves the windows open. I see the neighbors going by, they sniff the sauerkraut boiling, and often I can hear them sigh: "For kraut I'm fairly spoiling!" Ah, sauerkraut is a noble dish, beloved of wise old fogies! And why do foolish people wish their weed in plugs or stogies? BY WALT MASON.

The Master's Voice.

"We have come," said the chairman of the committee, "to ask you to take this nomination. The city needs a man like you—strong, brave, self-made, self-reliant, owning no master, fearing no man."

The great man was visibly touched. "I'll not deny," said he, "that your kind words have shaken my resolution. I trust that, if elected, I may justify your confidence and prove that I am indeed strong, brave, self-reliant; that I own no master and fear no man. Suppose you wait a minute till I see if my wife will let me accept?"—New York Times Recognized.

A Pennsylvania lawyer known throughout the state for his sharpness once met his match in a very unexpected quarter.

An old woman was being cross-examined by him as to how the testator had looked when he made a remark to her about some relatives.

"I don't remember. He's been dead three years," she answered testily.

"Do you mean to tell me that your memory is so bad that you cannot go back three years?" demanded the attorney.

The witness was silent.

"Did he look anything like me?" the lawyer finally ventured.

"Seems to me he did have the same sort of vacant look," responded the old lady.—New Orleans Picayune

To Make Business a Science.

The science of selling offers a great field for study for the department of commerce and for the many business schools which are springing up in our colleges. Commerce is not mere money getting; it is a science, as banking and law and medicine are sciences. It should be studied as such, for with such study comes not only greater efficiency, but a higher standard of ethics as well. There is no more pressing public service to be done than the discovery of the best ways of reducing the cost of distribution and of elevating business to the standards of a profession.—World's Work Thoughtfulness.

"Lady," said "Fondling Pete," "would you mind letting me have some mud and some horse-droppings?"

"What for?" I haven't given you anything to eat."

"No one knows it better than me. But I'm a member of the S. P. C. A. and a harbor no grudge. That dog of yours has just let a piece out of my leg and I want to give him some seasoning."—Washington Star

One Way to Get It.

"I have come to your town to get some atmosphere in my new story."

"Well, if you go right down the street and turn to the right, then keep on to the first engine house on your way, they'll probably lend you their pulmotor."—Baltimore American Pleasant Outlook.

"Well, dearest, I'll speak to your father tomorrow. You might put him in a good temper for me."

"Yes, I'll be so beastly obstinate that he'll be positively grateful to you for taking me off his hands."—London Opinion

Did Her Best.

"Mary, were you entertaining a nun in the kitchen last night?"

"That's for him to say, mum. I was doing my best with the materials I could find."—Liverpool Mercury Chronic Grouch.

"Have you not dyspepsia?"

"No."

"Then what's the use of acting all the time like you had?"—Louisville Courier-Journal

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The Kid You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of Dr. J. C. Watson

Have you not dyspepsia?

"No."

"Then what's the use of acting all the time like you had?"—Louisville Courier-Journal

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The Kid You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of Dr. J. C. Watson

Have you not dyspepsia?

. MOTHER O' MINE.

If I were hanged on the highest hill,
Mother o' Mine,
I know whose love would follow me still,
Mother o' Mine,
If I were down in the deepest sea,
Mother o' Mine,
I know whose tears would come to me,
Mother o' Mine,
If I were damned of body and soul,
Mother o' Mine,
I know whose prayers would make me whole,
Mother o' Mine.

MANY OBSERVE IT THIS WAY

Charley Sing, a Chinese gardener, peddles truck in Salt Lake City. One of his best customers is a banker.

One morning Sing drove up to solicit orders for vegetables and he found the banker working among the flowers in the yard. It was Decoration Day and the bank was closed.

"You no work today?" inquired Sing.

"I should say not!" replied the banker. "This is a holiday."

"Me work all same," said Sing. "Me work all same every day 'cept Sunday afternoon."

"What do you do Sunday afternoon, if you don't work?" inquired the banker.

"Me washee plenty shirt last all week!" was the Chinaman's reply.

THE HORSE IN WAR TIME.

Evidently the warring nations across the water are finding uses for all the horses they can get. An agent of the French Government now is buying horses in Kentucky, and Great Britain is making purchases both in the United States and Canada.

War is destructive to human life and also is destructive to equine life. "The steed to battle driven" has been immortalized in song and story. He has illumined the pages of history and the priests and prophets of Holy Writ have paid tribute to his prowess. We had hoped gasoline would save our good friend, Dobbin, but great as is the use of the motor, the horse is just as necessary, and he is found to be as useful as he ever was for dragging field guns, packing machine guns and for the use of cavalrymen.

FOOL FASHIONS, FASHION

FOOLS, OR WHAT.

The following clipping from the pen of the gifted Kansas author and statesman, William Allen White, may lead to some profitable reflections:

That's some dress you've got on, little girl—it sure is. That delicate, clinging, crinkly stuff in the prettiest cloth on the store counters; that silk Persian sash of many colors so gracefully swathed about the center sections of your anatomy would knock the spots off Joseph's coat. You are corseted and tailored according to the most extreme models in the advance fashion books.

But your neck is too low and your sleeves are too short, and your skirt is far and away tighter than skirts ever were meant to be. And that graceful slit exposing your dainty left ankle shows a stocking above your pump that is almost transparent enough to read through. And you haven't any more petticoat than a rabbit—you know you haven't.

Oh, you're some swell, you are! Have you noticed how the loafers around the grove rubber after you as you trip demurely by on your way to the uplift lectures? And have you been thinking, little foolish one, that they were rubbering out of pure admiration? Ask your brother about it. If he's got any sense, he'll tell you some things that will be hard on your vanity and good for your soul. And if you've got any sense, you'll take his word for it; you'll lay that dress away and don something that is wide enough around the bottom for two petticoats and one pair of legs.

For there never was a dress designed little girl, that is half so beautiful as a young girl's modesty.

TWO KINDS OF CITIZENS.

Patriotism manifests in many and various ways. Some people are willing to die for their country and a few are willing to live for their country which is much harder. Some are eager to show their patriotism by holding a job at a fat salary and are willing to vote the party ticket straight and work for the party if the said party can keep them and most of their family in office, but let someone else want the same office and their loyalty and patriotism gets very weak and often dies a sudden death. The small ways in which patriotism may be shown seldom attracts. A man serves his town or country in some official capacity and we dwell up on his work and perhaps magnify it and forget or fail to notice the man that cuts down the weeds in his back lot and whitewashes for his neighbors sake as well as his own. An officer may give his life in a day, but the man who gives his whole life to the uplift of a town, without any remuneration is also a patriot. Two kinds of citizens are in every town, traitors and patriots. There is no middle ground of neutrality. The patriot does his full duty to the community, votes, expresses his opinion, and bears cheerfully his portion of the community's work. The traitor lets the other fellow do the work and wants to reap all the benefits.

He serves his country best

Who lives a pure life and doeth righteous deeds,
And walks straight paths, however others stray,
And leaves his sons, as uttermost bequest,

A stainless record which all men may read.

Banner Price for Cattle.

Mr. C. P. Cecil this morning delivered to Mr. Monte Fox sixty-six head of 145-lb. export cattle. It is said that the bunch is one of the finest ever sold in Boyle county. The price was $9.00 per hundred, the highest price paid for export cattle in this section of the State.

AMERICAN SANTA CLAUS

WILL VISIT FOREIGN

PORTS.

Paris papers comment in very touching terms upon the anticipated voyage of the American Santa Claus to European ports on one of Uncle Sam's battle ships to bring Christmas presents to children of sorely tried European families. It will not be the soonest forgotten of the minor incidents of the war.

STANFORD.

Miss Anna Ellis is the guest of Miss Mary Rout.

Miss Mary Dee Kennedy is the guest of Miss Sudie Ellis.

N. L. Neal, of the West End, is reported quite ill of pneumonia.

Mrs. Mattie Nevius is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Nannie Hiatt at Louisville.

Mrs. John Roberts and baby of Brodhead are visiting her sister, Mrs. L. B. Hilton.

Mrs. Woodie Hale is at home after a visit to her sister, Mrs. Spink at Coloburg.

Miss Mable Gumm, of Lexington, spent several days here last week with friends.

Mrs. Mildred Beazley of Lancaster, is here for a visit to relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. W. V. Smith of Gratz, Ky. have been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Smith.

Miss Elizabeth Vermillion of Danville was the guest of Miss Gertrude Wilkinson last week.

Mrs. and Mrs. Walter G. Smith were the guests of his uncle John Quisenberry at Eubank last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter W. Saunders, and Capt. and Mrs. J. L. Coffey spent Sunday in Danville with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Hughes have returned to their home at Memphis Tenn. after a visit to his mother Mrs. Julia Hughes.

The Rook Club met with Mrs. J. W. Baughman on Tuesday afternoon. All the members were present and the afternoon was a very charming social affair.

Misses Josephine Beazley and Miss Katherine Harris entertained a number of their friends on Hollowen night at a party. All the guests masqued and a very pleasant evening was spent.

Mrs. B. B. Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. Norwood, Miss Dorothy Norwood, of Lexington, and H. C. Campbell, of Wayland, were the guests of Mrs. Annie Prewitt and Miss Lena Palmer Sunday.

Prescott Brown entertained the Camp Fire Girls and their friends last Saturday evening at his home. Delightful refreshment were served and after spending several pleasant hours there, the crowd went out to enjoy Hollowen.

Ed. Traylor, of the Dudderar Mill neighborhood was taken quite ill Sunday, while he was at his home alone. He was moved to the home of his brother, Dan Traylor, near this city where he will receive the very best of attention.

Mrs. Susan Curtis and son, Clyde Curtis, went to Nashville Tenn. Sunday. Mrs. Curtis was called there by the illness of her son; W. B. Curtis, who met with a very peculiar accident at his home while pruning fruit trees. He fell out of the tree striking a stick, which penetrated his lung. The wound is serious.

Rev. J. A. Trostle returned home Monday from Anderson county, where he has been holding a revival at the Anderson Presbyterian church. He had thirteen confessions and a splendid meeting in every way. Rev. Parks, pastor of the church brought Rev. Trostle home. Rev. Trostle will leave Wednesday for Brison